Two Miners Are Rescued Alive; Four Are Dead

Two Of Six Coal Miners Trapped Last Saturday Are Taken Out Alive

FEVERISH RESCUE WORK IS ENDED

Mixed Grief And Joy Today In Mining Settlement Near Wilkes-Barre

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Two of six men trapped behind thousands of tons of rock and coal since Saturday night in the Mocanaqua Mine of the West End Coal Company were brought out alive today.

The four other men were found dead.

One of the miners snatched from almost certain death was John Tomashunis, 40, of Shickshinny, father of seven children. Joseph Motzoni, 22, of Mocanaqua, unmarried, was the other survivor.

Those who perished in the blast were:

Jacob Tinus, 45.
Henry Ceglarski, 23.
Paul Novak, 40.

Leave Many Children

All were residents of Mocanaqua and all but Ceglarski were married. Molitoris is survived by his widow and three children; Tinus by his widow and four children, and Novak by his widow who is in Europe.

First word that rescuers were nearing their goal was flashed to the surface at 6:25 o'clock this morning, about eight hours after the almost discouraged rescue gangs heard the tap-tap of signals and faint calls from behind the great barrier of coal and rock.

It was not immediately learned

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Something unusual for late October was seen by Mrs. Donald Copson, Grandview avenue resident in the northern skies on Thursday. Mrs. Copson said a colorful rainbow circled the bleak sky after a heavy cloud had disappeared. Others saw it, no doubt.

When the Union high and Freedom high teams get together at Taggart stadium tomorrow afternoon, a crowd of local fans is bound to be in the stands. While a delegation of supporters will go to Turtle Creek for the New Castle-Turtle Creek game, others will remain here for the local contest.

Some Hallowe'eners weren't sure if last night's parade was the only one planned this week, so they telephoned The News last night. Informed that it was, they quickly hung up and no doubt got busy devising some outfit to march in. One exclaimed: "Oh, we only have until 8 o'clock."

Destruction of the large ice houses at Stoneboro by fire last night, marks the passing of another of the landmarks of a once flourishing winter industry. Years ago thousands of tons of ice were cut in the winter and stored for summer use. Artificial ice and refrigeration by electricity have hit the ice packing industry hard. The immense ice

Thousands Share In South Side Hallowe'en Celebration Thursday

Two Thousand Mummers March Through Streets Last Night

Record Outpouring For Fete —Prizes Awarded To Masqueraders

South Side was out in front last night. Apparently everybody in New Castle who could get there was there for the annual Hallowe'en parade, and there seems no question that it was the biggest parade of such character held in New Castle for many years.

It is doubtful if there ever was as long a queue of Mummers in a parade in New Castle for the South Side event this year was the only one held, the uptown parade being cancelled. Something over 2,000 Mummers were in line and fifteen or twenty thousand spectators enjoyed their antics as they paraded past in their regalia.

Costuming Good.

A wealth of originality was shown in the costumes seen. Convicts in striped suits marched side by side with ballet dancers, and wild African head hunters accompanied brides and grooms. The animal and vegetable kingdom were invaded for costumes, one Mummer garbing himself as a composite vegetable with a cabbage for a headdress.

At seven-thirty the parade started to form at the corner of Pollock and Long avenues and promptly at eight o'clock Grand Marshal Edward D. Pritchard gave the starting signal. Bands blared out, red fire flares made spooky shadows on the street, and the fun was on. Motorcycle Officer Ray Showalter was out in front to open the way.

Down Reynolds to Mill, down Mill to Long, thence to Scioto, to Reiber to Moravia and back to Long avenue and the parade retraced its steps. At the corner of Mill and Long the judges were stationed under the direction of Chairman D. O. Davies and these gentlemen had

Fishermen Near Erie Find Body Of Woman Believed Suicide From Lake Vessel

WOMAN BELIEVED IS CLEVELANDER

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 30.—A woman believed to have jumped into Lake Erie from a Cleveland-Detroit steamer today was tentatively identified by Coroner Daniel Hanley and Cleveland police as Mrs. T. E. Munnell, of Cleveland, missing from her home since Sept. 3.

The body of the woman was found in the lake near here by fishermen who reported it to the coast guard.

Cleveland police informed local authorities that a purse belonging to Mrs. Munnell was found in a stateroom of a Cleveland-Detroit steamer a few days after her disappearance and contained a note stating she was going to end her life by leaping from the vessel.

Local authorities requested Cleveland police to check further in an attempt to make identification definite.

Thief Enters House During Party Event

Goes Through Coats Of Guests And Secure Money And Valuables

Police were called to the home of K. C. Voorhees, 17 West Edison avenue, about one o'clock, to investigate one of the boldest sneak thief robberies occurring here in some time. Lieutenant Hillers and Officer Kennedy answered the call.

It was found that the guests were in the basement of the home in the course of the progress of the party, when someone raised a front window of the home and entering, went through the pockets of the coats of the guests, securing about $28 in money, a pair of gloves, and two vanity cases. One of the vanity cases was found outside where it had been dropped by the thief.

Most of the money taken was the property of the Misses Thelma and Mary Hennessy.

TOO MANY "DUBIOUS RISKS" ARE NOW ENTERING COLLEGE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Dr. F. O. Holt, registrar at the University of Wisconsin, today told educators attending the second annual Guidance and Personnel Conference of Secondary Schools and Colleges at the Pennsylvania State College, that too many "dubious risks," are entering college.

More than 200 representatives of public schools, private colleges, teachers training colleges and the state department of public instruction arrived to day for the conference which continues until Saturday. Many counties sent school superintendents or supervising principals to the gathering.

In describing the admission plan at Wisconsin, Dr. Holt said:

"Neither high school certificate nor college aptitude test is sufficient to predict college performance, but by a combination of the high school performance record and the aptitude test used at Wisconsin, we are able to predict with an error of less than one per cent those who will fail in college."

Brazil In Hands Of Revolt Today

REBEL MOVEMENT GAINING STRENGTH

(International News Service)

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 29.—A revolution has broken out in Brazil against the provisional government of President Getulio Vargas, according to reports reaching here today from the Brazilian border.

The rebel movement, starting at Pernambuco, 1300 miles north of Rio De Janeiro, the Brazilian capital, was said to be growing steadily, and heavy casualties were reported in numerous clashes between federal troops and the insurrectionary forces.

Strict Censorship

Strict censorship has been imposed at Rio De Janeiro and Pernambuco, making it difficult to obtain details to the revolt, and the only official statement from the Brazilian government declared the situation was not out of control.

Dispatches from the frontier, however, said strong federal forces were being rushed to disturbed centers to quell the uprising, while one report said the rebels, after a series of minor engagements, had captured the City of Pernambuco.

Rebels Besieged

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 30.—Rebellious forces in Pernambuco are besieged by federal troops and are expected to surrender hourly, it was stated in dispatches received here from Rio De Janeiro today.

The messages quoted government officials as stating that the revolutionary movement had been suppressed. The governor of the state asserted the besieged rebels were so outnumbered by government troops that their surrender was a certainty.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Oct. 30.—Early in the autumn, Mrs. Rogers and I sent two sons away supposedly to schools (we got tired trying to get 'em up in the morning). One went north here in this state, another to New Mexico.

Since then we have received no word or letter. We have looked in every football team all over the country. Guess they couldn't make the teams, knew their education was a failure and kept right on going. Any news from any source will be welcome.

I am flying to Mexico City today. The big one spoke Spanish, so maybe he is there. The little one didn't even speak English, but he loved chili and hot tamales, so he may be there, too.

Edison's Widow Is One Of Wealthiest Women In Country

Estimate Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Is Worth Between Twenty Five And Forty Million

No Legacy Under Late Inventor's Will, But Gifts Throughout Years Very Valuable

By CHARLES J. McGUIRK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Mina M. Edison, widow of Thomas A. Edison, emerged twenty four hours after the probate of his will in the Surrogate court in Newark yesterday as one of the richest women in New Jersey if not in the United States, though under his will she received no legacy.

Her wealth is variously estimated here as running between twenty five and forty million dollars.

$25,000 Weekly

Its chief source has been "gifts" bestowed upon her by her husband from his weekly checks for royalties and for the presidency of his various companies all through their forty-six years of married life. These weekly checks for a period of fourteen years are said to have averaged $25,000, giving Edison an annual income over this period of $1,300,000 or a total of $18,200,000.

This income was strictly cash and was only a part of the moneys that flowed into the inventor in the form of dividends from his various holdings, from his complete monopoly of the Phonograph and moving picture for much of the two seventeen-year periods during which he held patents on their invention, and later for his membership in the General Film Company, the organization which held such a complete monopoly on the moving picture industry that it was broken up under the Sherman anti-trust act.

Kittatinny Hotel Totally Destroyed By Fire Of Unknown Origin

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Oct. 30.—The Kittatinny Hotel, Delaware water gap's largest hostelry, burned to the ground early today. The structure had been closed for the season and the cause of the blaze is unknown.

By the time the fire fighters arrived the blaze had gained such headway there was no chance of saving the huge building.

Homes Of Two Bakers Are Bombed No One Reported Injured

BELIEVED DUE TO BREAD WAR

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.— Two bombs were tossed in front of the homes of two local bakers here today arousing hundreds of residents. First reports said no one was injured.

The bombings, police believe, were due to a bread war which started here several weeks ago. The bluecoats also believe New York gangsters were imported to do the bombing, as both bombs were reported hurled from a car bearing New York license plates.

The first blast took place before the doors of Carmine Palmerio's home, and was heard throughout West Philadelphia.

The second detonation occurred at the bakery of Rocco Landatto.

Both explosions were attributed to dynamite bombs. The first hurled Palmerio, his wife, Rosie, and their YUMA, Ariz., Oct. 30.—Sheriff J. R. McFadden of Phoenix, Ariz., with his prisoner, Ruth Judd, confessed trunk slayer, arrived here at 9 a. m. Mountain Standard time.

Mrs. Judd appeared cheerful, and unfatigued by the tiresome night ride from Los Angeles.

Workmen under the direction of the county attorney's office labored yesterday and all night, gaining access to the cess pool shortly after midnight.

The cess pool was ordered cleaned by the county attorney's office in an effort to find missing portions of the viscera of Hedwig Samuelson.

Brinkerhoff believed that the dismembering of the body was made in the bath tub of the Samuelson

Three Injured In Charity Grid Game Of Police-Firemen

Firemen At McKeesport Win Game By Lone Touchdown —Policemen Severely Hurt

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 30.—Being charitable (and over enthusiastic on the gridiron) today had wrought havoc with the police department of McKeesport, suburb.

In the name of sweet charity, football teams of the fire and police departments met on Memorial Field last night. It was their third meeting and rivalry and daring play ran high.

When the game ended, it was found Patrolman Joseph Hopkins, 29, suffered concussion of the brain; Patrolman Dudley Prosser, had two fractured ribs; Lieut. James Gray suffered a fractured collar bone.

All were in McKeesport hospital today.

The firemen, suffering no major casualties, won by a single touchdown and deadlocked the series at a victory each and a tie.

It takes frosty weather for football games, and a flurry or two of snow, it takes the tang of the autumn air, to really get folks to go. For football games in a summer sun lack color and life and vim, but frost and chill give the game a snap, and the players get tough and grim. Yes it takes the frost and the flurries of snow for a chap to enjoy the play, and it seems that weather is here at last, it's cool, fifty four today.

School Relief Fund Total Is Not Yet Known

Program Is Repeated On Thursday Night At Senior High School

Because there are still a number of tickets out for the play, no definite estimate is available yet for the amount of money realized from the "Autumn Revue" staged in the Senior High School auditorium Wednesday and Thursday nights.

The crowd on Thursday evening was larger than on Wednesday night but neither night saw the crowd the production deserved. Without any question it was one of the prettiest school productions staged in New Castle in a number of years and the teachers and pupils alike are to be congratulated for their work.

houses that for many years were familiar at Conneaut Lake, have also been razed in the past year or two, and apparently little Conneaut ice is stored along the lake. There are a few small ice houses in this district where ice is still stored, but they are gradually becoming extinct.

New Castle citizens are about due for a spell of nasty weather. Last year, it was considerably colder and several flurries of snow had been reported by this time. About a week ago, a few flakes of snow were noticed here, but that is the only sign of winter that has been observed so far.

TWO MINERS ARE RESCUED ALIVE; FOUR ARE DEAD

whether the four men had perished from cold and exposure in the interior of the mine or had met instant death when a terrific blast let go in the colliery nearly a week ago.

Tomashunis and Motzoni, who miraculously escaped death in the blast and survived the long hours of imprisonment in the damp, black cavern, were reported in good condition despite their harrowing experience and to be suffering chiefly from thirst and hunger.

Feverish Struggle

The last eight hours of the rescue work was a feverish struggle, an almost hopeless race with death by grimy, discouraged men who had worked in relays in the subterranean shaft since last Saturday night. Fading hopes were revivified, however, when the weak signals penetrated the barrier and the workers attacked the fall of rock and coal with renewed zeal.

Rescue work proceeded under the greatest difficulties as fresh slides threatened to undo all the work accomplished. Only a few men could work at a time in the narrow tunnel and it was necessary for the vanguard to pass the coal and debris hand-over-hand at the risk of their lives.

Signals Exchanged

The Rev. W. A. Losieniecki and the Rev. John Baloga, Catholic priests and pastors of the parishes in which the entombed men lived, were on the scene when the bodies were found, prepared to administer the last rites of the church. When it was learned that four of the men were dead the priests turned away on a mission of mingled grief and joy, bearing messages of relief to families of two of the men and of sorrow to the families of four.

First signals came shortly before dawn by way of an iron pipe which the rescue gangs drove through a mass of fallen coal which still barred the trapped men. The pipe was driven through the barrier pillar and the signalling was kept up throughout the early hours of today.

plenty of trouble deciding who should get the prizes.

Plenty Of Music.

There was plenty of music for the marchers. The South Side band led the parade, and in addition there was the Benjamin Franklin Junior High School band, the George Washington Junior High School band, the Veterans of Foreign Wars Drum Corps and several small groups of musicians who were in costume. The committee in charge appreciated the splendid co-operation of the band units named.

Long avenue from Pollock to Moravia was a solid mass of people, so was Pollock from Long to Reynolds, Mill street from Long to Reynolds and Scioto street from Long to Reiber. During the time of the parade motor and street car traffic was stopped but nobody seemed to mind the inconvenience in the hilarity of the night.

The judges passed out cards to the winners and these cards were exchanged for the prizes a little later. Hams and groceries, toilet water and cash prizes, all to few, although the prize list was heavy.

In the grounds of the Lincoln-Garfield school lights had been strung and here a band concert was presented after the parade. The carnival spirit pervaded the night and while there was considerable jostling and milling, it was all taken in good nature.

Weather Good.

For once the weather stayed clear and fairly warm and this probably was one of the big reasons why such an unusual crowd was out for the celebration.

The judges were Charles B. Mayne, Albert A. Hoyland, Fred Eaglehardt, Major Guy J. Wadlinger, Chester Sweezy and Frew Book. The distribution of the prizes was made by Maurice Markley, Oscar Levine, Hartzell Huston, Theodore Frank and Charles Landolf. The Board of Trade committee in charge of the evening was composed of President Alec Samuels, D. O. Davies, Hartzell Huston, Maurice Markley, Lew Miller, Oscar Levine, W. C. Druschel, Ivor V. FOUR BOYS HURT IN AUTO CRASH street, cut requiring five stitches in the leg.

Gene Pelosi, 205 Ashland avenue, four stitches in the kneecap.

Immediately after the accident, according to the police authorities, some one took the Ohio license plate on the front of the machine off. When Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch started an investigation this morning to determine the ownership of the car and who was in it, they finally learned that the three boys other than the driver had been severely injured and were in bed. They finally managed to dig up all persons involved.

The statement of Albert Panella, driver of the machine was to the effect that he had purchased the machine from a Mr. DeMarco of Montgomery avenue for twelve dollars. He was driving the machine on a learner's permit. He and Joe Zumpello had arrived too late for school and did not attend senior high school. Instead they returned to the Seventh ward, where after considerable trouble Albert Panella got the machine started. He had been keeping it on Blanchard street. They went to the Senior high school.

They started down the Shaw street hill about 4:30 p. m. and as he neared East street, Panella tried to use his brakes, the emergency, the reverse and second gear, but the brakes failed to operate and the effort to turn into East street was of no avail.

The machine skidded over the sidewalk and into the corner of the Hartsuff home and then down over the six foot wall into the adjoining lot, where it landed on its side.

All were injured in the crash. Panella, who was himself injured, assisted Zumpelli and Natale to the Mercer street office of a physician, where they had their injuries attended to, then went to their homes and to bed, without informing their parents of what had happened. Pelosi was also injured and also went home after having his injuries attended to and having the wrecked machine removed to a garage.

According to Panella he had no license plates and was using the one Ohio plate and a piece of card board on which the number was written, which had been on the car when he purchased it. All the group have been ordered before the may or Saturday morning, November 7.

FURTHER TESTIMONY IN SOLOMON CASE

Additional testimony was taken before Judge R. L. Hildebrand this morning on an application for the removal of Thomas Solomon, Jr., as executor of Thomas Solomon, deceased, late of the seventh ward. It is claimed by the petitioners that Solomon failed to file an inventory within the specified time. Solomon is fighting removal on the grounds that he was delayed in preparing his inventory, owing to the fact that he had to employ an expert accountant, in making up his schedule. He now has the inventory ready.

It is only natural that you should want your meals to be tasty and delicious—and, meat that is tasty, is doubly appetizing. You can buy "better meat" at our market—meat with a savory flavor—and, too, the prices always are right.

No doubt you are aware that the taste of food is by far more important in determining digestibility than its appearance—and sweet tastes, especially, are great stimulators of gastric juices—this fact should be kept in mind when buying your foodstuffs.

You can buy first class foodstuffs here—meat, fresh fruits and vegetables, groceries, dairy products and bakery supplies. For your convenience we list our Saturday specialties.

AS A FOREIGNER SEES IT

THE editor of a London newspaper has been spending six months in the United States visiting all sections of the country and in a parting statement he declares he sees on the surface of life "few signs in any American city of the severe distress which I was assured by nearly everyone would create in the coming winter one of the gravest social problems in American history." The standard of living is still very much higher in America than anywhere else in the world, this widely traveled observer declares, and Americans of all classes "live with an air of opulence that cannot be matched in any European country." And then he adds:

"They are more finely clothed. They eat better and more varied food. They live in more material comfort. The working classes have a wider margin of personal pleasures. They enjoy luxuries which no other proletariat could possibly afford.

"Hundreds of thousands of working men travel to the factories and mills every morning in their own motor cars. The motor is to an American working man what a bicycle or a 2-penny tram car ride is to an English artisan.

"Until he has crossed the Atlantic Ocean the average American citizen cannot clearly perceive the chasm that separates his own conception of social comfort from that of the average European."

NO FILIPINO INDEPENDENCE YET

The visit of the secretary of war to the Philippines, from which he has just returned, has confirmed the president in the opinion that to give the islands independence now would lead to economic disaster. This is a sufficient reason for denying it, regardless of all speculations as to whether they might not be taken by another power. "The problem," the president says, "is one of time." Certainly the Filipinos have made no such progress in the principles of self-government as to justify casting them adrift at the behest of native politicians. Furthermore, they are not a homogeneous people, and the protection of the United States is essential to the welfare of many of the tribes. We have undertaken a duty there which we can not lightly forego.

But the economic argument is, after all, the controlling one. If the islands became foreign they would lose all the protection the American flag offers them. There would inevitably be tariffs against their products and a consequent loss to a large extent of the profitable American market. The sugar interests in this country would be glad, of course to escape further Filipino competition, and part of the pressure for independence has come from them. Mr. Hurley is convinced, however, as other competent observers have been, that we can not in justice to our wards yield to such pressure. It would be too much to hope that the agitation will not go on. But the president's attitude makes it more than ever hopeless.

If the Philippines are ever to become completely independent, it must be under far different conditions than those which now exist.

SENTIMENT ADDICTS

Men drug themselves will all sorts of things, some with food, some with drink and some with medicine.

A life without sentiment would be a terrible thing, but sentiment can always be restrained by reason and governed by it.

Those who allow themselves to be swayed by sentiment against their reason are acting emotionally and not rationally.

There are some who get such pleasure out of sentiment, or such pain—in any way, such feeling—that before sentiment reason gives way, and thus they become sentimental addicts.

One of the most terrible things in life is to "emote" too much. Often a wife becomes dissatisfied, though her reason tells her that her lot is a happy one, when her sentiments are not satisfied.

A sentiment can be a prejudice when it sways us contrary to our reason and veils for us the facts of life.

Most of us are swayed by sentiment more than we think.

We should not let our feelings dominate us, although it is equally wrong to be without any feeling.

Feelings are given us to criticise and adjust and to place in their proper place. They are like horses that are very useful when broken and steadily driven, but are dangerous when they run wild.

One does the most good when he acts according to his intelligence and is backed up by sentiment.

A sentimental addict is unhappy himself and is a cause of unhappiness in others. This is because sentiment cannot be argued with. It speaks with the intolerance of the instincts. The only person who can be argued with is one who governs himself by reason and keeps his sentiments subservient to reason.

Sentiment thus is like salt. A little of it is good, but too much of it spoils the meat.

A man without sentiment is cold and harsh and unlovable, but one with too much sentiment is about as bad.

As in everything else, we must use our judgment, must never let ourselves get beyond control, never let any sentiment carry us beyond the barriers of intelligence.

NECESSITY DRIVES

When the Federal Farm Board, last summer, advised cotton farmers to plow up every third row, many derided the suggestion and nobody took the advice. The board could have cited a precedent: Peach-growers in California's San Joaquin Valley are pulling up the trees. Of the 65,000 acres devoted to clingstone canning peaches, one-fifth has been cleared of orchards and will be used for other crops. The region annually produces one-fourth more peaches than the market will absorb, and the result is low prices. This season the growers received about half the production cost for the crop, so they decided it was time to do something.

During the Great War the world stood aghast when the invaders cut down apple trees in Picardy. That was an "atrocity"—but what of this ruthless peacetime destruction? Indeed, with most farmers—reports Russell Lord, editor of the Country Home—it goes against the grain. They find it hard to down the old notion that destroying a fruit tree, or burning foodstuff, is a sin. Still, those orchardists must face the economic paradox that people are going hungry because the country has too much food. They must cut down peach trees so that they can buy bread and shoes for their own children.—The San Antonio Evening News.

It is alleged that men are buying perfumes for personal use. Whither are we drifting?

Every man thinks he could have a better philosophy of life if he could move into easy street.

Have You an Alibi?
So Soft, So Comfortable
So Convenient

By MARSHALL MASLIN

If no one's looking I'll put an extra lump of sugar in my coffee.

If no one's watching me carefully I'll loaf when I should be working.

If you turn your head when I make a mistake I'll take an alibi.

An alibi is so comfortable. It's so convenient. It relieves the pain almost at once. It's the most extraordinary medicine in all the world. To be sure, it's a poison and it's likely to weaken you. But it's so useful to have around when you've made an ass of yourself, when you ought to blush for shame.

I read the other day of a rich and able and successful and generous man who was asked what was the secret of his great success, and he replied: "I was lucky." . . . Somehow he felt that he ought to have an alibi for his success. . . . Many of us feel that way occasionally. We are happy and we feel secure, we have come into a pleasant interlude of life and we fear it cannot last. Something will happen to destroy that charming, temporary paradise and we walk warily in it and fear to touch a flower or pick an apple because of what MIGHT happen. We say: "We do not deserve what we are enjoying." We make an alibi.

But I do not mean that kind of alibi. I mean those pathetically self-excusing alibis that come so swiftly to our lips when we have failed and know we have failed and know that everyone around us knows how completely we have failed. . . . Then we blame the other fellow, we blame our bad luck, we blame our childhood, we blame everything but the sorry creature who has failed. That alibi is a passing relief, and I hardly know how we could get along without it.

We could do without the telephone, we could manage without the automobile; at a pinch we could go without eating for three or four weeks, but please don't ask us to surrender our most convenient alibis. . . . Don't be so cruel. Don't be so proudly strong. Be just a little understanding about us others, poor, weak mortals who lean upon our alibis and ask you to look the other way.

TURNING THE TABLES

The golf professional was ill; he called the doctor in.
"There's something wrong with me,"
he said. "I'm strangely growing thin.
My muscles ache, my cheeks are pale, I've lost my appetite,
I have a gnawing pain right here,
and cannot sleep at night."
The doctor looked him up and down, outside and underneath,
And said: "As far as I can tell, the trouble's with your teeth."

"My nerves are jumpy," said the pro. "It's teeth!" the doctor said.
"My back is aching all the time, and when I bend my head
I have a touch of dizziness, my stomach's out of gear,
And something deadful's wrong with me, I very sadly fear."
"Oh, no," the doctor answer made,
"You're sound as you can be.
The trouble's with you teeth, my boy. A dentist you should see."

The doctor was a golfer, too, and later filled with woe
In search of help and comfort he sought out his patient pro.
"There's something wrong with me," he sighed. "I cannot drive at all!
Though once my shots were long and straight, I'm slicing every ball."
The grinning pro observed his swing.
"It can't be that," said he.
"Perhaps the trouble's with your teeth—a dentist you should see."

In a current advertisement we read of a simple fellow who pounded himself on the head with a hammer because, as he expressed himself, "It feels so good when I stop!"

Now we wonder if this poor chap ever thought of an invigorating massage in place of the hammer. It would certainly give him better after effects, and without damage.

Spirit Of Yorktown Victory Invoked For Today's Tasks

President Hoover's Application Of Spirit Of Event To Present Day Finds Echo In Public Comments On Ceremonies

More than an anniversary is seen in the national celebration of the battle of Yorktown. The spirit of that victory following the trials of Valley Forge, is declared to have benefited England as well as America. President Hoover's invocation of that spirit in meeting economic obstacles today is echoed in many comments throughout the country.

"In England and the United States," says the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, "there survive none of the antagonisms engendered by conflict; these have been supplanted by the recognition that the two nations share today, in great measure, common ideals and principles." The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS advises that "the tasks before the world today require the same qualities of mind and heart which gave mankind that glorious chapter in the evolution of civilization."

"The thoughts of the country are effectually diverted from the gloomy conditions of the hour by such graphic reminders of America's beginnings," avers the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, in viewing the celebration, and that paper holds that "it must have re-strengthened the resolve of men and women alike to face with new courage the tasks yet to be surmounted before the economic foes laying siege to the United States can be vanquished." The SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE declares that "the will to win in the face of discouragement is as precious a legacy as any political forms or principles that go back to Yorktown." The SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS quotes the Governor of Georgia as stating that the event "gives pause to look back into American history * * * and from such fine service to be inspired to emulate the fathers of America—now, in a time which calls still for as heroic, courageous and unselfish devotion to our land."

"As surely as the valor and confidence of the colonists of 150 years ago were rewarded," thinks the SCRANTON TIMES, "so will the American people of today be favored if they plod on, their heads up, their eyes ahead to the surrender of the Cornwallis of depression." The SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) UNION is convinced that "it cannot be said of this generation that, with its equipment, it failed where previous generations succeeded."

"Only a little of the spirit of the men who won at Yorktown," according to the Charleston (S. C.) EVENING POST, "is necessary for victory over the circumstances of today. The pessimists of the present had their counterpart in the men who doubted the success of the Revolution, but it is not by pessimists that this nation has been raised to preeminence among the nations of the world. Fortunately for America, confidence in their country's future is an inherent trait of a majority of Americans." The GREEN BAY PRESS-GAZETTE states: "A comparison of today and 1781 makes present-day complaints appear so pitiful and grotesque."

Opposed to the President's ideal of "rugged individualism," the ASBURY PARK PRESS argues: "This was not the spirit of [illegible] has it been the spirit of American government since that memorable occasion. The Revolutionary soldiers did not act as individuals in throwing off the British yoke, they grouped together [illegible] that their efforts might be effective. Nor is the nation today composed of millions of individuals each treading his own course."

Among the thoughts suggested by Yorktown, the NEWARK EVENING NEWS emphasizes that "crises in the struggle are only tense moments, to be endured and resolved, that independence may become more real and the democracy of humanity may be evolved"; the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION, that "we need to go back to Yorktown for a fresh inspiration"; and the MIAMI DAILY NEWS, that "if nations in time of crisis, could maintain the sanity, the freedom from hatred, with which we now, 150 years after the surrender of Lord Cornwallis, regard the struggle of American colonists for freedom, Yorktown might have been free from bloodshed in 1781 as in 1931, or as Gannymede meadows in 1215."

"President Hoover's impressive speech," asserts the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR, "restored to the national shrine its real significance for all Americans. For Hoover, Yorktown was one of the decisive battles of the world, and Washington's victory there a victory not for American independence alone but for the spirit of human freedom everywhere. History bears him out there, as it does in his judgment that Yorktown was not only a victory over the British but the culmination of a struggle amongst English-speaking people to extend the work begun at Runnymede."

"The most liberal-minded of English historians," adds the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, "treat this revolution as having been almost as useful in promoting freedom for the English people as among the inhabitants of this continent. That is the interpretation of the Revolution which appears in President Hoover's address—a great unfettering of humanity, a liberation of minds and a stimulation of the spirits of men from which all the world profited. Yorktown should have permanent effect in promoting thought and teaching on these lines."

"The fight that America made against oppressions outlined in the Declaration of Independence," states the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS, "was the fight that such statesmen as Pitt and Burke and Fox were making in England, against corruption and oppression at home. Yorktown meant the independence of the American colonies, and the setting up of a vast nation in the new world. It also meant a vast series of reforms in England that through a century and a half have brought about, not an empire, but the British Commonwealth of Nations."

THE CHILDLESS

It is unkind to chide couples who are childless.

Most people want children and if they have no children there is often a very good reason which they regret.

To be obliged to steel themselves against the jibes and jokes of their friends is not pleasant.

Normal men and women who are married desire to become parents.

There is a lonely something lacking in the home without children.

There is joy in watching young children develop physically and mentally.

Parenthood is a natural desire except with those who are selfish and do not want the inconvenience or expense which raising a family entails.

When you find that some of your married friends have no children think twice before you would hurt their sensitive feelings.

To joke with a childless couple over something over which they have no control and which Fate has denied is thoughtless to say the least.

You may be a proud parent but you need not be a heartless friend.

Isn't it true that you get pleasure from that which in some instances hurts your friends?

Debate Animals As Weathermen

Can They Tell When A Hard Winter Is Coming On?

SEATTLE, Oct. 30.—Taxidermists and zoo keepers are having a big argument over the question: "Can animals tell when a hard winter is coming?"

Dave Bryant, taxidermist, emphatically states that animals can; "Doc" Knudson, park zoo keeper, says they can't.

"I've watched fur-bearing animals for years," maintains Knudson, "and they always grow heavy winter coats. Sometimes the winters are mild, and sometimes severe, but I can't see any difference in the fur. Squirrels gather in nuts and beavers their supplies, but they don't know any more about the winter than we do. They're just born pessimists."

By their furs, you can tell what kind of a winter to expect, insists Bryant.

"When furs start coming in, we can predict the kind of winter we will have, and we're seldom wrong," he claims. "Animals in captivity don't show this. They live too artificially, and are not in their natural surroundings. But you can bargain on a hard winter when wild furs are heavy."

Screen Actress To Appeal Case

Mary Astor Will Appeal Decision Denying Damages For Death Of Husband

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—Mary Astor, film actress, announced today she would appeal from a jury decision which denied her damages sought from two airplane companies for the death of her first husband, Kenneth Hawks.

Hawks, a motion picture director, and nine other men were killed in a collision of two planes owned by the defendant companies during the filming of a picture off Palos Verdes, Cla., January 2, 1930.

Miss Astor and seven other plaintiffs brought suit for $775,000 damages. All will appeal the case.

Correct this sentence: "When the majority rejects my plan," said the typical American, "I always do my best to make the majority plan successful."

Better Late Than Never

Last week those eighteen lambs that Kerber got from farmer John Rodgers was not near enough to supply my friends—they were entirely sold out by eleven a. m. A lot of my friends were a little late but it was better than if you never came because it gave me an idea that I must get more lambs so I told Bill Kerber when he was making his rounds in the country this week to hunt up about 18 or 20 more good lambs just like those little dumplings he brought in last week. Well Bill found them and he's got them all slaughtered and I'm going to let you have them at the same prices as last week. Mrs. C. R. Braden, out by Neshannock Falls has decided to leave her farm, she had 232 yearling leghorn hens ready for the market. Gee but they're nice and plump, just right to make a good pot of noodles or fricassee. Well Kerber told Mrs. Braden to make a little concession on the price which she did—we are going to sell them tomorrow at—a pound 19c

Come in and see coop after coop full of real lively healthy birds—pick out the one that looks the most healthy to you and my boys will dress it for you in a jiffy. We also have lots of nice springers that will weight 3 to 8 lbs apiece.

Billy Burrows has not overlooked any opportunity to save you money—our business has increased to such an extent that Billy can now buy by the truck load—this enables us to buy for less and sell for less. Come in and look over our prices and you will see that I am not handing you a bunch of bunk.

Two weeks ago we made 3 barrels of sauer kraut, now you know Kerber and I are both Dutch and it takes the Dutch to make good Kraut. We were both taught by our grand daddy's to make it the old Heidelburg way—try it you'll see the difference.

Two weeks ago we started delivery service to your home—now all you have to do is come in and give us your order and we'll deliver it to your home in style.

Rev. R. A. Blair Addresses Students

Blind Minister Of Parnassus Tells Students About His Guiding Shepherd Dog

The students at George Washington Junior High school were highly pleased Thursday morning when they went to the assembly room to have Rev. R. A. Blair, the blind minister of Parnassus, who is conducting services this week in the Reformed Presbyterian church, tell them of the wonderful feats his shepherd dog, "Dot" performs in guiding him about as he travels from one place to another. He told the children how the dog had been trained and then demonstrated the obedience and instinctive protective characteristics of "Dot." The very inflection of his voice is understood by the dog.

Rev. Blair says he can go through the crowded streets of downtown Pittsburgh more quickly that a person with sight, of course this is due to the fact that when people see the dog leading him, they give way for his passage. His talk to the pupils was highly interesting and instructive.

This morning, Rev. Blair spoke to the students at Senior High school.

This evening at 7:30 Rev. Blair will give his closing address in the Reformed Presbyterian church, taking as his subject, "The Council of God Standeth Sure" and Saturday morning he will return by train to his home in Parnassus.

Blevins Expresses Appreciation Of Moorhead's Action

I feel it would be a breech of etiquet if I publicly failed to acknowledge the unsolicited endorsement of Mr. James E. Moorhead, in my race for the new office of County Controller.

This office was created by petition of 4095 electors in the county and Mr. Moorhead was as I understand responsible himself for over 3,000 of these names. Many signatures were given him with the idea that they were helping Mr. Moorhead. Naturally, when Mr. Moorhead was defeated in the Republican committee nomination, by votes of men who were not legal committeemen, it created a bad feeling towards those responsible.

I feel Mr. Moorhead has displayed a very patriotic and civic spirit when he has refused to support a candidate over which a question of doubt exists.

I want the voters of Lawrence county to know I deeply appreciate Mr. Moorhead's support and sincerely trust that I not only have his confidence but also the confidence of the voters at large,

Signed,
J. C. Blevins.

What Tests Of Secretion Will Show

Useful Information Obtained By Medical Examinations

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Medical science has learned to test all of the secretions and excretions cast off by the body and has made all of them yield useful information. Even the saliva, which is seldom examined as a routine, will under certain conditions of bodily disease show characteristics and diagnostic changes.

The sputum represents the cast-off effluvia of every portion of the respiratory tract, from the smallest air sacs to the largest part of the windpipe. If there is any infection in this tract the germ of infection will be incorporated in the sputum. This is the most frequent reason for examining the sputum—to obtain germs from it—the commonest object of search being for the germ of tuberculosis.

Examination of the urine is carried out virtually every time a diagnostic examination is made. The urine gives information of two different sorts. First, like the sputum's relation to the respiratory tract, it represents the effluvia from the entire urinary tract, and any disease of the kidneys, ureters, bladder or lower tract leaves its trace. This can be found only by putting a drop of urine on a slide under the microscope. Here if, for instance, there is a stone in the kidney or bladder, its presence will be made known by blood cells scraped off by the stone from the delicate lining of the mucous membrane. If infection is present it will be made known by pus cells and by cells desquamated from some part of the tract. It is even possible to make a shrewd guess from the character of the cells seen under the microscope what portion of the tract they come—kidneys, ureter or bladder—and so locate the site of the disease exactly.

The second sort of information examination of the urine furnishes is due to the fact that it casts out certain waste products of the body. Any accumulation of useless chemical or trash in the body is brought by the blood to the kidney and cast off. Hence by chemical examination we may find out much of what is going on all over the organism.

The most important of these substances and the most important single test of the urine is for sugar. Whenever sugar accumulates in the tissues—either because one has eaten too much of it or because there is too little burned, as in diabetes, the excess appears in the urine. The test for it is very simple, depending on the well-known principle that when sugar is boiled in a solution of copper sulphate it changes the blue copper sulphate to red copper oxide. Hence, when a drop or two of urine is boiled in a copper sulphate solution and the solution turns from blue to red we know that sugar is present.

The other most frequently performed chemical test on the urine is for the purpose of determining the presence of albumin. If present it may mean many things. It is quite common in young people and does not necessarily mean that there is any disease of the kidneys present. It occurs temporarily in such slight things as tonsilitis. It is present, of course, early and late in Bright's disease.

A complete chemical analysis of the urine is a very tedious task and has only been done a few times in the history of the world.

Questions from Readers

Mrs. L. H. T.: "I wish that when 'we patients' went to 'you doctors' that said doctor would 'open up' and be more instructive on the subject of our particular pet ailment. In my experience the average doctor is so close-mouthed. He treats us, gives us things to take, does certain things to us, maybe gives us short instructions, and as a whole it is quite a mysterious process."

Answer: One reason for the physician's attitude is lack of time. For most explanations of medical treatments or methods of examination it would require an hour or more. A book called "The Doctor Explains", by Dr. Ralph H. Major, tells in language the patient can understand, most of the things the patient wants to know.

A good deal of the current hootch might be styled the "amateur spirit."—The Fort Wayne News-Sentinel.

AIRWOMEN PLAN UNUSUAL RACE

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Almost every mechanical means of transportation will be used in a strange steeplechase to be run by two famous English airwomen soon.

Both society and industry are agog over the race in which Mrs. Victor Bruce, who has flown around the world, and Miss Winifred Brown, first woman to win the King's Cup Air race, are to engage.

They will dash by: horse, bicycle, motorcycle, racing automobile, speed boat, and aeroplane.

The race will consume a day. The wager is $500.

The course is yet to be decided, but the start will be from Hyde Park Corner.

Mrs. Bruce explained that the idea for the race came from a discussion of the various sports in which the women had been disinterested. They found them the same—so decided to race, using their sporting vehicles in a friendly contest.

ADVISED TO DRIVE WITH LOCKED DOORS

DETROIT, Oct. 30—Motorists have been advised here to drive with the doors of their cars locked. Thugs have been accosting motorists stopped for traffic lights, stepping into cars and then robbing the drivers.

James E. McCarthy, chief of police, suggested drivers also keep their cars in gear when stopped by a light in a comparatively lonely section. With the doors locked and the car in gear, a driver has a good chance to escape when accosted, he said.

Helen Keller In Raptures Over Brittany Sun

(International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 30.—"Paris is a perfect place to think—and to shop!' declared blind and deaf Helen Keller on a recent visit to the French capital. "We've spent all our money so now we have to go home."

Miss Keller was particularly enthusiastic over the beautiful sunsets she had seen in Brittany, that is, she had "seen" them through the eyes of her well-known teacher, Miss Anne Sullivan, who describes everything to her blind pupil.

She was, however, very much disappointed in finding so few good books for the blind in Paris.

"I want you to tell people," explained Miss Keller, "that it is very difficult to get Braille books here. Louis Braille, a Frenchman, is the inventor of the Braille system of printing books for the blind, but the French do not seem very much interested in it. One can't even get Victor Hugo or Mme. de Sevigne here. I read the translations in London but had hoped to read the original here.

"In London I found a library with five miles of Braille books. Like in America, they are sent free through the mails. In France, the government charges full rates, so a great deal of money for postal charges."

Famous Monessen Hotel Housing Largest Bar Is To Be Apartment House

Site Of Sheetz Hotel, Known To All Old Timers, Is Reported Sold

Ninety Foot Bar, Was Always Busy In Olden Days — Schooner For Jitney

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Oct. 30.—Oldsters of Charleroi and vicinity are indulging in reminiscences of the "good old days" when tippling was done behind freely swinging doors and the boys quaffed openly from the brimming beaker.

The Sheetz Hotel, Monessen's last surviving memorial to the era of foaming five-cent stein, is coming down in favor of a modern apartment building. And with the destruction of the hostelry goes the bar room famed as the largest in Western Pennsylvania— 90 feet of shining mahogany and brass rail.

This change of the old order gave impetus to all the reminiscing. And stories of prosperity and its heyday were recounted when workmen stumbled upon $22 in coins as they moved the old bar.

Good Old Days

The old folks of Monessen and Charleroi are telling of the palmy days at the famous Sheetz bar and the palmier nights. Fortunes were spent at that brass rail, and "pay nights" saw eight to fifteen bartenders, resplendent in white aprons and jackets, serving up "straights" and nickel mugs to a thirsty populace.

The story is told of how, on pay days, bartenders had no time to register money in the six cash registers which lined the back bar, but simply tossed bills on the bar ledge or into baskets.

As the evening wore on, the proprietor or his clerks would make the rounds with a basket, collecting the bills in much the same fashion as a gardener gathers fallen leaves.

Of all the wild yarns that cross the bar, probably the most incredible then would have been the prediction that one day the mahogany would be ripped out to make way for an apartment.

PLAYFUL, THIEVING BOLT OF LIGHTNING

(International News Service)

NORTH VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 30.—A playful light-fingered lightning bolt which visited the home of Arthur Hoskins, and vanished with an electric meter, the basement windows, and metal light sockets, besides extracting some copper wire from its insulation without charring the rubber, is puzzling North Vancouver residents.

Even Prof. E. G. Cullwick of the department of Electric Engineering of the University of British Columbia can't readily explain the physical and chemical action of the bolt.

Apparently attracted by the radio aerial, the bolt ran down the side of the house and smashed a deep hole in the ground. Then it blew the door of the electric panel through the basement windows and 20 feet outside the house. So far its work is traceable.

But the electric meter is nowhere to be found. The basement windows offer not even a scrap of glass. The metal of the light sockets vanished into the air.

And, finally, the copper wiring in one circuit, without an iota of harm to the rubber insulation, disappeared. A disconnected electric washer cord suffered the same fate.

Professor Cullwick thinks the phenomenon worthy of investigation. North Vancouver folk think it hard work to catch a lightning bolt.

SHAKESPEARE'S GLOVES PLACED IN MUSEUM

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—More than 300 years ago there was a man named Will in London.

And he had a pair of soft, gaily fringed buckskin gloves. He was a well known figure in the taverns and around the courts where the strolling players congregated.

He wasn't a very important fellow then, so that when he died no one was especially interested in his soft buckskin gloves.

But now his gloves have been placed on exhibition at the University of Pennsylvania.

For Will of old London was none other than William Shakespeare.

Behavior Clinic In Chicago Jail Gives Results Of Work

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 30.—The latest attempt of science to peer beneath the surface of criminology and find corrective measures has been hailed as a success here by judges and police officials six months after its inception.

Headed by Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, an expert on mental diseases, the behavior clinic in the Cook County jail has been in operation here since last April.

Accomplishments of the laboratory have attracted the attention of criminologists, psychologists and sociologists in all parts of the world.

The guiding principle of the "criminal clinic," according to Dr. Hoffman, is that punishment should fit the individual and not the crime.

And, operating on this basis, Dr. Hoffman and his aides have made minute studies of many thousands of the 35,000 criminals or those accused of criminal acts, who yearly pass through the house of correction and the county jail here.

Medical science contends that the legal profession, unaided, has utterly failed in stemming crime. If punishment for crime were a sure cure, Dr. Hoffman points out, there would be no "repeaters." But figures in the new crime clinic show that 55 per cent of all incarcerated in the Bridewell here are recidivists.

This clinic is purely advisory to the courts and is disinterested in the legal aspects. A behavior case is brought to the clinic on the order of the chief justice or presiding judge of the case in the Criminal Court.

Here the person is studied in turn by a psychologist, a social investigator, a physician, and a sociologist. Then the findings are assembled by Dr. Hoffman who reports to the trial judge and the information is used in determining disposition to be made of the person in case he is found guilty of the offense for which he was arrested.

KISSING CAUSING TOO MANY COLDS

(International News Service)

LAWRENCE, Kan., Oct. 30.—University of Kansas co-eds and "eds" must stop kissing if they want to check the cold epidemic at the university. That warning was given by Dr. Ralph I. Canuetson, director of student health and chief of staff at the student hospital. However, not osculation alone was the cause of the epidemic which sent 145 students to the hospital for treatment, but Dr. Canuetson said it had a great deal to do with it. "Weakened resistance, due to fatigue and loss of sleep, irregular hours and meals, eating too much and the wrong kind of foods are a principal cause of the colds many students have contracted," he said.

NOT MUCH EXCITEMENT OVER COMING ELECTION

State's Political Placidity Will Hardly Be Ruffled Next Week

Political Leaders Are Looking Ahead To Next Spring's Important Primaries

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Oct. 30.—Pennsylvania's general election, as such, gives promise of slipping in and departing again on November 3 with only a gentle zephyr ruffling the State's political placidity.

Only one state-wide contest—that for Supreme Court—will be on the ballots, and the apparent outcome of that fight is not giving politicians much concern.

Aside from Philadelphia, where Pennsylvania's lone congressional battle will be fought, and Allegheny, where voters appear to have declared for a revamping of the political machinery, there are very few instances where county squabbles are commanding notice beyond the boundaries of their particular bailiwicks.

Instead, political leaders are peering into the future and laying groundwork for the more significant days next spring when national convention delegates, a United States senator, and congressmen will be nominated.

Drew Certain To Win

Judge James B. Drew, Pittsburgh, was successful in capturing Republican and Democratic nominations for Supreme Court Justice, the only state office at stake in the approaching election. Drew is a supreme court appointee of Gov. Gifford Pinchot and observers anticipate seeing him start a new term next January.

The second congressional district, Philadelphia, will select a representative to fill the unexpired term of the late Congressman George Graham. Edward L. Strokes is the Standard Bearer of the Republican party and predictions of his success have not been confined to immediate friends and supporters.

Stokes will have to share the votes, in some measure or other, with Charles S. Hill, Democratic nominee, and John W. Edelman, hailing from Montgomery county, as the choice of the Socialist party.

Commissioner Fight

Allegheny's county commissioner fight keeps the political cauldron boiling in the Pittsburgh area. Primary election results and subsequent complications made speculatiion rife, and even the most astute are chary about venturing forecasts now.

Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, "The Old Gray Mayor," was dropped from the picture in the primary, and the Republican nominations for that office went to Senator William D. Mansfield, of McKeesport, and Charles C. McGovern, present minority commissioner. Armstrong's defeat, and that of Senator James J. Coyne, were attributed in some measure to lack of political sagacity in failing to pool their interests both in the county and in the City of Pittsburgh.

McGovern, on an independent ticket, has come out openly for Former Senator C. M. Barr as his choice for the third man on the board.

With David L. Lawrence, Democrat, to be reckoned with in the fight, McGovern, an ardent Pinchot adherent with substantial support both in the city and in the outlying districts, has worries of his own.

Watchful Eye

Following defeat of the Pinchot forces in Dauphin county at the primary, Harrisburg has turned a watchful eye upon the judicial scramble across the river in Cumberland.

The age issue has been injected into a heated battle here. Judge Edward M. Biddle, Jr., 67, Democrat, and Fred S. Reese, 36, Republican, are the principals. Reese, who is the district attorney, is backed by W. Seabright Stuart, Pinchot leader. The forces which brought downfall to the Pinchot ticket in Dauphin have been able since the primary to concentrate their guns upon Stuart and his candidate and have high hopes of duplicating the feat achieved on home soil.

Lackawanna, like many other counties, has seen far more interesting elections than it expects to record this time. Just now the Republican leaders in Scranton and vicinity are more concerned with state patronage, or the lack of it, than anything else.

One other angle of the Supreme Court fight attracting considerable interest here concerns the Socialist candidate, John W. Slayton, of Erie. Politicians incline to the belief that Slayton's strength or weakness, as shown when the ballots are counted, should prove a fair index to the party's progress in recent months.

Sites For Tent Colonies Are Not As Yet Selected

Sites Of Tent Colonies Will Depend Upon Conditions In Various Sections

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 30—No camp sites for erection of tent colonies to house unemployed workers on state roads will be selected until after careful surveys of actual conditions have been made, Sam Lewis, secretary of highways, said today.

Such a survey is now being made in Southwestern counties by representatives of the highway, health, forests and waters, welfare, labor and industry departments.

After studying the recommendations of the committee regarding sections where distress is most acute and where men may be put to work on the roads, Lewis will make recommendations for location of the sites to Governor Gifford Pinchot.

MORE TRUSTEES TO BOARDS APPOINTED

HARRISBURG, Oct. 30. — The governor's office today announced a series of additional appointments to boards of trustees at state institutions. Those named included:

Warren State Hospital—A. Lincoln Bell, Ridgway.

Western State Penitentiary—William E. Sankey and Edwin C. May, Pittsburgh, (reappointments).

President Commends Disabled Veterans In Relieving Distress

That the service rendered by the Disabled American Veterans is a necessary adjunct to the administration of governmental benefits in providing for the rehabilitation of disabled ex-service men is attested in a letter written by President Herbert Hoover to Mr. E. Clyde Babcock National Commander of the D. A. V., in which President Hoover expresses the desire that the Forget-Me-Not Day appeal which is to be conducted by the D. A. V. in New Castle, as well as throughout the nation, will be generously responded to by the public. The President's letter is as follows:

Mr. E. Claude Babcock,
National Commander,

2840 Melrose Avenue,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

My dear Commander Babcock:

The work of the Disabled American Veterans in relieving distress amongst those still suffering from the effects of war service is most praiseworthy, and I trust that your annual Forget-Me-Not Campaign will bring forth a generous response from the public.

"Little Brown Jug" Reported Stolen

Consternation At Michigan University Campus Over Reported Theft

(International News Service)

ANN ARBOR, Oct. 30—A sensation was created on the University of Michigan campus today when it was learned that the "Little Brown Jug" had been stolen from the trophy room of the Athletic Building.

The little brown jug became a symbol of victory in the annual football battles between Michigan and the University of Minnesota in 1903 when a Minnesota trainer snatched it away from the Michigan bench and challenged the Detroit gridders to 'come and win it back."

The jug was thereafter awarded to the winner in the annual game.

Needy Families Are Stopped By Police From Digging Coal

Property Owners Near Abandoned Mine Ask Police Halt Diggings

(International News Service)

DUQUESNE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Unemployed families in Mifflin township, near here, today were looking to new sources for their winter fuel supply following an order issued by Chief of Police J. J. Crawford prohibiting further digging in an abandoned coal mine.

More than 35 families helped themselves to coal from the abandoned mine, in a field near Bettis Airport. The coal vein was about three feet below the surface and property owners nearby petitioned police to stop the work because the newly dug shafts constituted a menace to travel at night.

Crawford said none of the coal was mined beneath the city streets and officials here knew of no such efforts. The police chief said the order was issued to protect property owners and the lives of the diggers, menaced by frequent cave-ins.

"Don't You Know He Is Already Married," Tells Interviewers About John Gilbert

(International News Service)

ABOARD S. S. ILE DE FRANCE, Oct. 30.—"Don't you know he's already married?"

With these words, Lupe Velez, dashing Mexican film star, parried questions regarding reports she was making her trip abroad for the purpose of meeting and perhaps marrying John Gilbert.

She pointed out that Gilbert's divorce from Ina Claire was still to become final and flatly refused to commit herself further. She also declined to discuss rumors of a romance with Gary Cooper, also of the films.

PROSECUTE OWNERS OF ROAMING DOGS

Prosecutions against more than 30 Wayne township dog owners who allow their canines to roam the countryside at night have been made by J. Wylie Brewster, local agent of the state bureau of animal husbandry. The dogs have killed more than 17 head of sheep already.

Other prosecutions will be made, Brewster said, if owners fail to tie up their dogs at night

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There's one thing to be said for a Hallowe'en celebration, you can't lug along much dignity if you attend. That may be the reason for the good nature of Hallowe'en crowds for you don't often see any fights.

They had so many people in the South Side last night that the buildings seemed to get shoved back. The people who weren't in costume in the parade were on the sidewalk and altogether Long Avenue was a mass of people from Pollock Avenue to Moravia street.

Street car service was paralyzed for forty five minutes while the parade passed and the Mummers held the right-of-way over everything. A whale of a mob milling around but a good natured one.

The feature act of the evening was put on by a horse. Drawing a cart containing the cage of the Wild Man from Borneo and the Wild Man inside the equipage pulled up to the point of formation. The horse was smooth shod and as he stopped on the composition street, his feet slipped and down he went.

Bill Kerber happened to be present and Bill knows a good bit about nags (he's a butcher). Getting the shafts loose Bill gave the horse a helping hand but no sooner had he regained his feet then he fell down again, (the horse). Second down and no gain.

By this time the horse thought it was a game and decided that he wasn't going to get up for somebody to knock him down again and elected to lay there. Business of assisting him by one fellow pulling on his halter, another on his tail, another helped with a number ten shoe and the driver tickled him with a whip. This time he stayed up when they got him to his feet and the Wild Man from Borneo moved out.

The only unfortunate thing about the parade was that thewe were only about 100 prizes for something like 3000 Mummers.

Slabtown seems to be getting some attention these days. Hamilton St. is being fixed, and now the high curbs along Long Avenue are being lowered to the level of the old curb. In the past five years if all the hub caps knocked off there were laid end to end, nobody would want to count them.

Answer to a query. No lady, Turtle Creek is not noted for its turtles. At least not lately.

Once in a while these wild men who drive automobiles come smartly up against the law. One of them came barging up Long Avenue on Thursday afternoon about four o'clock and what looked to be about 55 miles per hour.

At the intersection of Mill and Long he seemed in a fair way to break a couple of records, and also came near breaking a few pedestrians up and was breezing up towards the Lincoln-Garfield school.

The fact that school was letting out seemed nothing in his young life, until Officer Frank Reynolds stepped out and waved the mild man down. What he said couldn't be heard to the corner, but a haze of blue smoke around the car seemed to indicate language.

X-RAY SHOWS SCREW IN BABY'S STOMACH

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Gene Stathopoulos, 20-month-old son of Alex Stathopoulos, South Brownsville, swallowed an inch and a half screw from his crib. His cries at the time brought his mother who said the boy was choking. X-ray pictures at the Central Hospital revealed the screw in the pit of the stomach. The father is planning to take the child to Philadelphia for an operation if the object is not expelled soon.

You see, there won't be another Flood because modern civilization can be trusted to do the job itself.

CLUB PLANS AERIAL POLICE RADIO SYSTEM

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Oct. 30—An aerial radio system, which will enable police patrol airplanes to receive instructions while in the air and thus flash locations of bandit cars to police headquarters, has been worked out by a local radio club, which plans to cooperate with local police in catching criminals.

The system was tried out and found sastisfactory recently, and it is planned to install equipment in two police planes at the local airport. The system was tested under adverse conditions and allowed unbroken communications with an automobile cruising county highways and a motorboat in Lake Michigan.

So far as is known here, use of a radio telephone by cruising airplanes as an aid to police is a new idea.

Present Wet Offensive Is One Of Preparation For Presidential Year

Stewart Believes Launching Of Real Modification Drive Will Be Deferred Until 1932-33

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The noise of next winter's congressional fighting over prohibition will be terrific, but the truth is that the wet leaders do not expect to launch their real modification offensive earlier than the session of 1932-3.

This does not mean that they will be inactive in the meantime.

Between December 7, when the lawmakers will convene, and the indeterminate date of their adjournment, probably toward the end of April, they intend to keep up a series of fierce attacks on the drys.

There is no doubt that the drys will be numerically somewhat weaker than they were, due to wet victories last November. The wets think they will prove to be further disorganized by such recent developments as the American Legion's vote, as its Detroit gathering in September, demanding submission of the wet-and-dry question to the states.

Nevertheless, it generally is agreed in wet circles that the dry's defense will be too strong to be seriously dented during the coming winter.

Managers of the wet campaign believe, indeed, that they will be able to checkmate whatever attempts may be made to strengthen present dry regulations, as, for example, through Senator Morris Sheppard's plan to penalize liquor buyers, as well as bootleggers.

They likewise will seek to prevent any increase in enforcement appropriations and perhaps to curtail them slightly, in the name of economy, though they will not try to cut them off altogether, holding that that would be overdoing matters.

The introduction of measures to legalize 3 or 4 per cent beer will not be neglected and these bills will be genuinely pushed, but without much hope of accomplishing more than to advertise the merits claimed for them from the standpoint of unemployment relief, an increased demand for such farm products as breweries require and revenue raising.

But the main object of the wets' 1931-32 program will be less the attainment of direct results than to stir up public opinion in preparation for a tremendous effort to get a wet plank into at least one of the major party platforms some eight months hence.

It is no secret that wet strategists are not optimistic as to the G. O. P. platform.

They regard their Democratic prospects as fairly promising.

To comprehend their reasoning fully, it should be understood that the nomination of a wet presidential candidate, much as the wet high command desires it, will not alone serve wet purposes. A wet platform is needed, too, to commit candidates for the senate and house of representatives likewise to a policy of prohibition repeal or modification.

This is exactly what dry Democratic politicians do not like about the idea.

Republican statesmen do not care so much. They anticipate a G. O. P. declaration of a sufficiently elastic nature to permit their adherence to it without unduly straining their principles, whether wet or dry.

Dry Jeffersonians, however, sense the danger of an unmistakably wet plank's adoption at their convention and realize the mighty awkward fix they will be placed in if compelled to stand pat for unadulterated prohibition among their home folk while acquiescing nationally in a program of repeal or modification.

Anyway, the wet tacticians calculate that, if they succeed as to the desired wet plank and it is well received by the voters in November, 1932, they will be armed to go to work in earnest at the succeeding session of congress.

The wets admittedly bank heavily upon the American Legion's vote in Detroit, as showing dry majorities in only a dozen out of the 48 states—and of that dozen only half ordinarily Democratic.

The fact remains that cautious politicians are chary of recognizing the American Legion ballot as absolutely conclusive.

Neither wets nor drys, to be quite candid, are very sure what the Legion did signify.

With its contrasting totals of 1,008 wets to only 394 drys, it undeniably has a wet appearance. Anti-Saloon league statements point out, it is true, that a referendum is all that was called for—not necessarily actual repeal of the dry law. For all that, the strictures which the Legion adopted, relating to prohibition, certainly suggested an unfavorable majority sentiment toward the eighteenth amendment's effects, not to mention the detail that it is hard to see why drys should care for a referendum to confirm what they have already.

Thus it would be a mistake to assume that dry politicians are otherwise than very uneasy.

In the senate only 20 of them find real comfort in the Detroit returns.

These are:

Robinson and Caraway, Arkansas; Capper and McGill, Kansas; Harrison and Stephens, Mississippi; Norris and Howell, Nebraska; Thomas of Oklahoma (Thomas P. Gore was elected to the Senate from the Sooner State as a wet last November); Smith and Byrnes, South Carolina; Sheppard and Connally, Texas; Smoot of Utah (Smoot's fellow senator, William H. King, always has been opposed to national prohibition); Jones and Dill, Washington; Hatfield and Neely, West Virginia, and Kendrick and Carey, Wyoming.

Their states went out-and-out dry at the Legion gathering. They, too, are dry and have nothing to worry about.

Perhaps Brookhart and Dickinson of Iowa should be included in the list. The Hawkeye commonwealth did not go dry but it did not go wet, either; it broke even, 22-22.

Otherwise it is difficult for a dry to argue as he would prefer to argue from the Legion's lineup. And yet—and yet—was it a really representative vote? To politicians from hitherto almost solidly dry states it seems wellnigh incredible.

Besides, there is this to be taken into consideratoin:

On election day, even though the wets may be in a majority, they split their vote; the drys vote virtually as a unit.

Libel Suit Is About Ready To Be Given Jury

(BULLETIN)
By EARL AIKEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 30.—Ordering a secret conference of attorneys for an unannounced purpose Judge John M. Killits today adjourned the trial of Nan Britton's $50,000 libel suit against C. A. Klunk of Marion, O., until 1:30 p. m., after the hearing had been in progress less than an hour.

The surprise move of the court came after the defense attorneys announced they were finished with their case.

It was regarded as probable that Judge Killits would charge the jury when court reconvened this afternoon, and request it to render its verdict on the evidence already presented, including the readings from the two books "The President's Daughter" and "The Answer to the President's Daughter."

3,000 Men Rush Largest Liner To Completion

(International News Service)

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 30.—Three thousand men are working day and night behind closed gates at the Clydebank shipyards to complete within five months the world's largest ocean liner.

Construction of any "hush-hush" fighting ship has always been surrounded by secrecy, but never have new features and design of a passenger liner been surrounded by greater mystery. Guards are posted everywhere to exclude sightseers, and officials and workmen must show their credit papers before they can enter the grounds of the shipyard.

As far as can be ascertained, the mammoth steel-ribbed hull of this new ocean palace measures nearly 350 yards, and her cubic capacity comes to approximately 7,300,000 feet.

Her displacement has been estimated at 84,000 tons, which beats that of the Majestic by 20,000 tons. The H. M. S. Hood, mightiest of British sea fighters, weighs hardly 40,000 tons.

Multiple streams of road traffic could be accommodated easily in the new ship's three stream-like funnels. Her rivets alone weigh 4,000 tons.

Under pressure, according to available information, the ship's machinery could generate more than 210,000 horsepower. An average speed of some 30 knots from Southampton to New York will probably be decided upon.

The new Cunard liner, although not officially claimed to be non-sinkable, is built to remain afloat after sustaining damage that would plunge almost any ordinary steamer to the bottom. Whole sections of the hull could be destroyed without causing the ship to sink, it is claimed.

There will be 20 separate radio stations aboard, each with its own operator. In luxury and other appointments, the new liner, it is expected, will revolutionize existing standards.

Other equipment ordered for the vessel includes: 4,000 beds, 9,000 pieces of silverware and cutlery, 300 electric motors, 100 miles of electric cables and 10 miles of carpet.

Ruth Judd's Eyes Give Clue to Heinous Crime

Woman Head of New York Criminal Bureau Says Trunk Slayer's Eyes Indicate Motives Back of Murders.

In full corroboration with the person who described one's eyes as the "windows of the soul," Clara Parsons, well-known New York State criminologist, principally bases her diagnosis of Winnie Ruth Judd, Phoenix-Los Angeles trunk slayer, on the "distant, almost vacant" look in her eyes. In fact, Miss Parsons believes that Mrs. Judd's eyes largely explain the gruesome murder and mutilation of her two erstwhile friends. While the eyes are considered the most important clue to Mrs. Judd's heinous crime, Miss Parsons has pointed out various other highlights of the trunk slayer's features which probably have a more or less direct bearing on the case.

A number of visitors from Youngstown were present Thursday afternoon and evening, in addition to representatives of other consistories in Pennsylvania and Ohio. There were also many members present from a distance.

A good program has been arranged for this evening's entertainment, which should attract many of the members and their families.

Make Protest On P. & L. E. Proposal

Committee Appears Before Council Protesting Change In Station

Representing the Tax Payers league and persons who ride the P. & L. E. trains, a group of citizens came into city council today and asked that a formal protest be made to the Public Service Commission over the changing of the passenger station from West Washington street to the seventh ward.

Edward J. Davis spoke first and said that upon motion of Ivor V. Davis the Tax Payers league had decided to send the committee to council to make the protest. Mr. Davis (E. J.) said that it was a backward step to allow the railroad to move its station and that they should be forced to maintain passenger service as they have been doing.

W. W. Walls said that he had a petition of train riders who were against the proposed change on the grounds that it would handicap riders of trains.

Hugh Hannon spoke against the change and said that it was an outrage to permit the railroad to do what they pleased. Ivor V. Davis had come into council by this time and he entered his protest against the change.

It was suggested that the mayor appoint a committee to go to Pittsburgh on November 4 to attend the hearing before the Public Service Commission and protest the change. Councilman Reeves moved that such a committee be appointed and upon the passage of the motion Mayor Gillespie appointed Ivor V. Davis, Edward J. Davis, Hugh Hannon and W. W. Walls. These men will attend the hearing in Pittsburgh.

Strange Colony, One Family, Found On South Pacific Isle

AUCKLAND New Zealand, Oct. 30—A strange colony of 87 persons all descendants of a white man, William Marsters has been revealed by the chance visit of the American freighter Golden Coast to Palmerston Island.

The Golden Coast, blown slightly off her course during a trip from the United States to Australia recently passed close to the tiny coral atoll listed only on the larger charts of the South Pacific.

The skipper was surprised to see a small boat put off from the island.

The freighter stopped and lowered a gangway up which clambered a withered but active old man attended by a number of half-caste boys who called him "dad." The latter explained that nearly 70 years previously his father had gone to the island and that all the present inhabitants were descendants of this original settler.

He said that all loved their island home with its flowers, abundance of tropical fruit and other foods. The boys dived for pearls to pass awey the time. He pulled out a frayed piece of cotton cloth containing a handful of gems which he traded for a pile of old clothes. The wireless operator took the shirt off his back in payment for a pearl as big as a pea.

Most of the islanders have attractive olive skins and fair hair. The Golden Coast, which stopped for six hours, was the first ship they had seen in five years.

Institute Now All Installed In New Quarters

International Institute Moved On Thursday To Central Y. W. C. A.

Miss Emma Moore, executive secretary of the International Institute, and her secretaries of the Italian and Polish departments of the Institute, Miss Espedita Abbruzini and Miss W. J. N. Sroczynska, started their duties early this morning in their new headquarters at the central Y. W. C. A.

The Institute, a branch of the local Young Women's Christian Association dealing with foreign born women, was moved on Thursday afternoon from Pennsylvania avenue to the central building on the public square.

Everything was in order today and it is believed that the new quarters will be very satisfactory. The International Institute offices are on the second floor of the building.

NERVE FAILS HER AFTER SHOOTING

WARREN, O., Oct. 30—Mrs. Pearl Bowman 29, of Mineral Ridge is in the county jail awaiting the outcome of wounds which she admits having inflicted upon Charry Caswell 24, of Niles last night. Mrs. Bowman also shot herself, but was not seriously wounded. She told Sheriff Jack Rixsher that Caswell had threatened to end their "affair" and that she decided to commit suicide.

On the plea that she lived alone in a deserted neighborhood, she obtained a permit from Police Chief Paul Lyden of Youngstown and bought a pistol. Then, she said, she decided to "take Caswell with her." She induced him to come to her home and shot him, she confessed.

SMALLER FLUES ARE SANTA CLAUS PROBLEM

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—Santa Claus will have to go on a reducing diet to get into many new San Francisco homes this Christmas. John B. Leonard, chief of the bureau of building inspection, warned today.

The reason, Leonard said, is that chimney equipment to afford draught has been greatly perfected in recent months, permitting the construction of minimum sized slop vents.

Dr. Stork has had no difficulty with the new chimneys. however, Leonard said.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Teaching The Infant To Build

Dr. Myers Advocates Construction To Amuse Child

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division, Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

The child from one to two years of age is more interested in destroying than in building. He can cause something to happen when he tears things apart or knocks them to pieces. To do so gives him a sense of power. Left alone with a few blocks he will, without teaching, learn to put them together for himself.

Parents, notably fathers, are inclined to build up things for the baby to knock down. Observing the joy the child gets in doing so, the parent is tempted to go on at this sort of amusement over a period of months, even years. But this is not good for the child. It is teaching him the very thing he should not learn. If the child is to acquire ability of self-amusement he must learn to find enjoyment at construction. If, therefore, the parent is going to help the child at all with blocks, he should not let the child knock down the things built for him.

Without punishment, but with gentle restraining and skilful suggestion the baby can be taught to desist from knocking down the structure, but instead to take the blocks down carefully, one by one. This is not a guess. I worked it out in great detail with my own children when they were very young. In consequence, they not only learned not to be destructive, but learned to find self-amusement for hours alone at a time, building and inventing with simple plain blocks.

The usual cubical blocks are not the best. There should be some oblongs, two or three times as long as square on the end. A few strips six inches or longer are also desirable. There should be several pieces of the same dimension. Parents or older children can with a saw and plane easily make the best kind of simple building material for the child under three or four.

Frail toys encourage destructiveness. As soon as a toy is broken, either remove it or repair it at once. A few very substantial toys are better than many fragile ones.

When the child deliberately breaks a toy or dashes it to pieces, better punish him immediately, but be sure first that it was not an accident. Remember that "careful" may not mean the same to the child as it means to you. Merely to remove a toy from a child when he is rough with it may not teach him carefulness. Some children are so destructive with toys that they are given practically none. They must have toys to learn, and be taught to use them carefully.

Some parents desiring to encourage the child's curiosity, allow him to take toys apart. Some older children, accordingly remove the wheels from their wagon or tricycle about as soon as they get it. To do so is not good for the child unless he can replace it intact. Rarely can anyone put such toys together well after dissembling them. The older children will profit from the use of construction sets that are not too hard for them, provided they are taught to take good care of the parts.

Young Doe Killed, Struck By Machine

John G. Lauchner, Selinsgrove, Pa., Reports Killing Of Deer

(International News Service)

DANVILLE, Oct. 30.—A young deer was killed instantly when it dashed into the path of an automobile on the Northumberland-Danville road recently.

John G. Lauchner, of Selinsgrove, driver of the machine, said the deer was one of two that ran from the underbrush bordering the north branch of the Susquehanna river toward Montour Ridge. The animal was a young doe, weighing about 60 pounds. The meat was distributed to a state institution.

THREE PEDESTRIANS IN CHICAGO HIT BY RECKLESS MOTORIST

(International News Service)

CHICAGO Oct. 30—Striking three pedestrians within the short space of four blocks was the charge brought by police today against motorist Arthur Each, 63, when arrested for reckless driving. Each said he was unaware of the accidents.

SMALLEST BABY RECORD BROKEN

PERTH, Australia, Oct. 30.—A girl baby weighing one pound and thirteen ounces has been born at King Edward Hospital. She is tubbed each day in a pudding basin.

Matron Walsh, who has been collecting statistics on infants for years, says the new arrival is the smallest on authentic record.

USE VACUUM CLEANER TO FIND LOST BALLS

(International News Service)

EUGENE, Oregon, Oct. 30.—The search for golf balls lost in the autumnal leaves will no longer be a bugbear to golfers here. A giant vacuum sweeper four feet wide, that picks up leaves and paper from the fairways has been invented by William Crisp and George L. Babcock of the Oakway Public Golf Course at Eugene. Utilizing the principle of the ordinary household cleaner the unique machine is able to clear the debris from approximately nine fairways a day.

An ordinary "planer blower" is used to furnish the suction. The leaves are then blown through a long pipe into a cage built on the back of a truck, which serves also to haul the blower. An old automobile motor, mounted on a trailer, furnishes the power. Although the blower exerts a strong suction it can be regulated so that it will merely pick up the leaves and leave golf balls on the grass.

Time-Bells On Speakers Would Be Very Popular

Bell Effect Would Be Rung When Long-Winded Speakers Overstep Bounds

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 30.—A plan to keep speakers within their alloted time was successfully worked out here in Grace Methodist church when the Pennsylvania State Conference on world peace helds its sessions.

A clerk near the platform "put the watch" on the speakers and warned them with the ting-a-ling of a little bell before the time allowed them expired.

Thirty-minute speakers got a five-minute warning, and ten-minute speakers were warned two minutes in advance. Those engaged in general discussion were limited to five minutes, and the bell was sounded at the four-minute mark.

The arrangement apparently met with the approval of the speakers and delegates and had the effect of keeping the program on time during the two days of the conference.

TEXAS TOWN TESTING COTTON FOR PAVING

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 30.—Paving highways with cotton is one of the latest experiments undertaken by the state highway department of Texas.

Nearly 300 feet of asphalt paving in front of a Gonzales, Texas cotton mill was underlaid with raw cotton. A layer of asphalt and gravel was first laid, then a thin layer of cotton. After a roller was applied, topping completed the highway.

Several engineers advanced the theory the cotton would prevent "warping and waving" of the asphalt surface more or less common under a Texas sun.

T. H. Webb, assistant highway engineer, does not regard "cotton pavement" as an outlet for the cotton surplus, however. Only a few thousand bales would be used if every asphalted road in Texas were so treated.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

Nothing more astonishing has been seen, even in these days of surprises—mostly unpleasant surprises—than the activities of the governors of Texas and Oklahoma in clamping the lid on the oil wells of their respective states.

In Texas the shut-down had some traces of legal sanction, but in Oklahoma "Alfalfa Bill" Murray, practically declared martial law, marched in some state troops, and closed the wells. (They have lately been reopened.)

That is all interesting to friends of farming, not only in itself, but because it is impossible to miss the parallel between surplus oil from wells and surplus crops from the fields.

Both are suffering from unlimited competition among producers, all of whom have been straining every nerve to get out more and more stuff to be thrown on glutted markets. The lower prices go, the more pressure to get out a big volume, and thus keep the money income up. It is a distressing and futile kind of merry-go-round, and in Texas and Oklahoma a great sigh of relief went up when the governors stepped in and "liquidated" the situation by shutting off the valves.

The question is, can something of the same kind be done, or will it be done, in the same territory, in the case of cotton? As this is written, several state legislatures are sitting on the question of cotton restriction for 1932. Louisiana has forbidden the crop entirely, Texas has ordered it cut down. The question is how far other cotton states will go in co-operation with them.

There is no use shutting one's eyes to the fact that the cotton problem is much tougher than that of oil, and even the oil control has had to be softened considerably.

Oil wells are few in number, easy to get at, and their owners were not disposed to argue with the guardsmen's bayonets. Shutting down the wells was a matter of minutes.

It is very different when a state tries to tell two or three hundred thousand cotton farmers what they can do or can't do on their own land. Even when a majority of farmers approved the plan, there would always be a rebellious group who would insist on their right to grow cotton to any extent they saw fit. And the end of that might be "night-riding" and violence, such as we witnessed in the tobacco belt some years ago.

Many observers believe the thing can't be done, but hope that the indirect effect, helped along by the lowest prices in history, will be to reduce acreages of both cotton and wheat to something like normal figures. There is nothing to do but wait and see.

WHIMSICAL JIMMIE

Joseph Pennell tells of seeing Whistler when the latter was an art student copying famous paintings in the Louvre. One afternoon Pennell came upon him as he was finishing his copy of "Mona Lisa" and ventured to remark "You've done a fine thing there."

"Yes," Whistler agreed. "I am pleased with it, and then in his whimsical way he added, "I wonder what they'll do with the poor old original now?"

Still, if nobody would return to the old saloon system, the present arrangement must be an improvement.

He Beat Lindy Across Sea

Long before Colonel Charles E. Lindbergh was ever heard of, this man flew the Atlantic Ocean as the first aviator to accomplish the then unusually hazardous feat. He's Sir Arthur W. Brown, famous British trans-Atlantic flier, and his son, Arthur, Jr., as they arrived at New York on the S. S. Carinthia. This is the first visit to the U. S. Sir Arthur has made since he and John Alcock negotiated the initial airplane crossing of the Atlantic in June, 1919. The Britons took off from Newfoundland at 4:28 P. M. on June 14 and landed at Clifden, Ireland, at 8:40 A. M. June 15.

Hallowe'en Frolic Draws Big Crowd

Prizes Awarded For Unique Costumes At Union Township High School

On Thursday evening, October 29, the Union Township Parent-Teacher Association held their annual Hallowe'en frolic. One hundred and thirty-five masked members revelled in the auditorium of the high school, located on Scotland Lane. Costumes depicting nearly every style were worn with jaunty grace. Prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Mrs. Peden, whose hard times gown made the depression seem very real, and to Mr. Clark who brightened the party with his suit and long tailed coat of brilliant checkered hue. After the unmasking, following the Grand March, surprise was very evident, as many who thought they knew their partners, were badly mistaken.

Many games and stunts in keeping with the Hallowe'en season were enjoyed, but that game of other days—namely "Ruth and Jacob", caused the most merriment.

Later delicious Hallowe'en refreshments consisting of cider, doughnuts, candy and coffee were served. Credit for the success of the evening belongs to the Hospitality Committee, of which Mrs. J. Emerson Davis is the chairman.

BEAR IS KILLED WITH SMALL GUN

School Boy Brings Down Bruin With 22 Calibre Pistol

TWIN BRIDGES, Mont., Oct. 30—Daniel Boone killed a bear with a hunting knife and achieved immortality in the mind of every American school boy but Ed Shultz, a mighty huntsman, of Twin Bridges despatched a mother bear with a single short .22 caliber revolver and in recognition received a few paragraphs in his home town newspaper.

Shultz was wandering around in the Canyon creek country which is located in the Beaverhead National forest, when he came upon the bear and two cubs, and with that meeting began one of the classic additions to the repertoire of Montana hunting tales.

Unlike most mighty hunters, Shultz was not armed with a trusty long rifle which played such a prominent part in the winning of the American wilderness. His only protection was a little revolver.

His first shot struck the mother bear, but did not inflict a fatal wound. He reloaded the gun. His second shot failed to kill. He again reloaded the midget pistol. The beast, enraged by pain, started to obliterate her tormentor, but the third bullet bored into her skull just below the eyes and she sank to the ground dead.

Shultz killed the two cubs with a club because when he searched his pockets for more cartridges he found he had but one bullet left.

Tablet Marks First Military Post Of Napoleon

(International News Service)

AUXONNE, Cote d'Or, Oct. 30—Shades of Napoleon were revived here when an interesting memorial to the little general was erected at the artillery barracks of this city. It takes the form of a marble tablet recording that Napoleon Buonaparte, Lt. of Bombardiers, inhabited this place from 1788 to 1791.

The future Emperor was only 17 when he was posted to the regiment as a second Lieutenant. It was in these barracks of Auxonne that he wrote a report on artillery which first attracted attention to his military qualities. His pay when then about two hundred dollars a year and had to suffice to keep himself and his younger brother, Louis, who slept in a corridor outside of Napoleon's room.

Speaking of these "meager" days, the general later said: "In order to appear as prosperous as my comrades, I lived like a bear, always alone with my books, and I was obliged to make severe economies to purchase those books which were my only friends. I never went to cafes; I ate dry bread and brushed my own clothes."

Another youthful haunt of this celebrated soldier has just been classified as an historical site. It is the little country house, "La Sposata" which stands off the high road between Ajaccio and Bastia in Corsica. It once belonged to the parents of Napoleon Bonaparte and he was particularly fond of coming here in his youth as well as after he had reached the peak of his power.

The Emperor's grape-vine climbs up the wall of the little house, one of the finest vineyards of the island which furnished his half-yearly allowances during one period.

"The falling leaves fill me with melancholy thoughts," said the poetic person.

"They used to have the same effect on me," returned the matter-of-fact man.

"What changed you?"

"I moved into the city and don't have to rake them up any more."

KEEPING UP APPEARANCES

Mr. Close—Since we are going to move, we can be satisfied with a used car.

Mrs. Close—What do you mean?

Mr. Close—The new neighbors won't know but what we were the ones who used it.

POOR ILLUSTRATION

"What is your recreation, my boy?" said a banker to his caddie.

"I'm a Methodist, sir."

"No, no, that's your belief. I mean have you any particular sport or hobby? Just as, for example, I myself am a golfer.

"No, that's just your belief, sir," said the boy.

Yearbook Uses Colonial Theme In Honor Of George Washington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 30—The Westminster Argo, junior class yearbook, will help in the celebration of the George Washington bi-centennial by using a Colonial theme in the annual which comes off the press next May.

On the title page of the yearbook will be a drawing of Washington addressing his troops at Valley Forge. Other colonial scenes will be used for the opening section, sectional pages and divisional pages.

For the last four years the Westminster book has won All-America rating, the only college annual in the state to win the award last year and the only one in the country to win first place four years in succession. Under the editorship of Edward Rea, New Castle, this year's book should again be a prize winner.

LADY LUCK SMILES ON RAGGED OLD MAN

RENO, Nev. Oct. 30—A disgusted young man stood staring at a slot machine into which he had deposited numerous coins, in one of this city's halls of chance. He tossed a dime in the air, caught it and placed it back in his pocket.

Outside the door a ragged old man stopped him. The dime changed hands. The youth paused to light a cigaret. The old man disappeared. The clank of the machine handle sounded. The wheels whirred. Coins rattled against metal.

A grinning old man came out into the street, handed his surprised benefactor two thin dimes.

"Hundred per cent interest," he said before he slowly strolled away.

The state of Delaware was named after Lord De La War, of England, governor of Virginia, who entered the bay in 1610.

Williams Tells About Killings

Fred Williams, Chemist, Says Mrs. Ruth Judd Fired First Shot In Quarrel

REITERATES HE AIDED WOMAN

By LYLE ABBOTT
International News Service Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—Fred Williams, 26-year-old chemist and old-time navy enlisted man Thursday gave a startling new picture of the shooting of Agnes Leroi, nurse and Hedwig Samuelson, tubercular school teacher in Phoenix, Ariz., for which Mrs. Ruth Judd, the "Tiger Woman of Phoenix" faces extradition.

"Ruth Judd fired the first shot," Williams told International News Service.

Williams is booked at the city jail as a material witness. He surrendered Wednesday in Long Beach and told police he "aided" Mrs. Judd.

Detective J. P. Filkas Thursday with an International News Service correspondent asked Williams, "What about the shooting, Fred?"

"Ruth Judd fired the first shot," Williams replied, "and I never did say two guns were used. I never said one gun was a large caliber."

Texans Fight To Keep Fort

Fort Brown May Soon Become A Perch For Owls

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Oct. 30—The gray embattlements of Fort Brown, bathed in blood in the year of its birth, 1846, and once the headquarters of Robert E. Lee and U. S. Grant, may soon become the perch of owls and the home of tarantulas.

The historic fort has been included in the war department's economy program, calling for the abandonment of "unnecessary" military outposts. Citizens of Brownsville and South Texas are crusading to prevent its loss.

Shots fired in the war with Mexico plugged its earthen embankments in 1846. General Lee stayed there during his investigation of raids along the border. General U. S. Grant, while a lieutenant in the army of General Zachary Taylor, received his first training there.

Agitation in the north caused federal gunboats to anchor off the bar of Brazos Santiago nearby in 1863. With a force of 7,000 men, Gen. Nathaniel P. Banks marched on the fort and drove the smaller Confederate army out.

During the present century blood was shed at the fort when Negro soldiers stationed there mutinied in 1906. One American was killed. President Roosevelt's inquiry resulted in the entire command being mustered out.

In 1916, border bandit troubles became so acute a large force was placed within the barricade.

Adobe structures built in 1860 are still standing beside newer cantonments erected during the World war.

Big Dancing Boom Promised In Paris

(International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 30.—A big boom is expected to take place in dancing this winter. French teachers and composers are evolving new steps and rhythms to give the necessary kick to Parisian cabarets and ballrooms in an effort to bring back some of the pre-war gaiety.

Two clever new tunes are announced for the new show at the Casino de Paris which are written in the style of the popular Cuban dance which has taken the world by storm. They are expected to be as great favorites as "The Peanut Vendor" which has long been a good old standby with French jazz orchestras.

The new Cuban rhythm means that every dancer can express his own individuality on the dance floor. There are no steps to be learned, one need only time the beats and bars. The French, who are certainly not the best dancers in the world, prefer this sort of impromptu and highly original stepping to music.

CHINESE LAUNDRY TICKETS EXPLAINED

(International News Service)

DENVER, Oct. 30—A great oriental mystery has been solved.

Not by Sherlock Holmes or Philo Vance. It was Wing Hong Sing, lowly Denver laundryman, who answered a question which for years has puzzled the best minds.

"Laudlee tickee tell him much," Wing Hong Sing explained. Then, to illustrate, he produced a cardboard slip covered with Chinese characters. These, according to his translation, said, "the best things in life are free."

Each ticket, Wing Hong Sing explained, carried a bit of ancient philosophy.

"Nicee clustomer get nicee tickee," he declared. "Other kinds get not so nice tickee. Chinese washer boy wash harder on nicee customer's shirt."

The first Hungarian university was founded by King Louis the Great at Pecs in 1367. It was in its prosperity attended by 2,000 students, but passed out of existence in 1543 at the time of the occupation of Pecs by the Turks.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Rubbernecking. On your left ladies and gentlemen notice the stunning landmark in a bolero coat, just this side of 50th street, on Broadway. . That is a Ziegfeld girl, and her name is Mitzi Mayfair. . .She is the dance wonder of the honor at 17. . . Note the way passersby are staring at her and not for the understandable reasons: it is because she wears no makeup, a daring and even sensational thing for any pretty girl to attempt on Broadway. . .A natural complexion! Scandalous, her sisters are saying. . .(Particularly the ones with mirror noses.). . .

No, lady, it isn't snowing. . .Those fuzzy flakes which drift down about us in the sunshine are pussy willow down. Each fall pussy willows account for the first false snowstorm of the season. . . Notice, my friends, that although the day is warm, pedestrians here and there have turned up their coat collars because they think it is snowing.

And there, just ahead as we turn into 42d street, is Bryant park—New York Embankment, New York's Luxembourg Gardens and Tiergarten rolled into one. . .More wretched and depraved and desperate men drift in and out of Bryant park than frequent the entire Bowery. . .And more of the genuinely unfortunate: whitecollar workers out of a job. . .

Notice that expensively dressed young man in the gray hat. . . He is a marijuana seller, known to the police, but hard to catch with the goods. . . He sells dope in the form of cigarettes, called "muggles" at from a dime to a dollar each. . .

BARKING ON

But don't get the idea that New York is a wicked town. . .It isn't, as a guy named Aswell has been shouting for no matter how long. . . Fifth avenue, where the stop-lights are surmounted by figurines of doughboys clad in nothing but a helmet and a shawl, where the Eugenie hat has given way to the semi-beret, Fifth avenue, where the doggier stores seem ashamed of their identity and don't hang out a sign—Fifth avenue, for the first time in years and years, has witnessed the wink of dark eyes, traveling two and two at dusk. . .Not many, but the old world wickedness has come. . .

And there on the Avenoo at 9th street, is the sight of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brevoort's mansion. . .As the season for the Beaux Art Ball draws near the Brevoorts come sharply to mind, because it was a result of a huge masked costume soiree at their house that parties of the kind were forbidden in New Work for a handful of years. . . The reason: Mathilda Barclay's forbidden suitor from South Carolina crashed the Brevoort gate as a Florentine noble with a black strip across his eyes and the pair eloped. . .The bigwigs brought such pressure on the P. D. that masked balls were taboo, with a $1,000 fine—$500 when the host owned up freely. . .

DALLAS, Tex. Oct. 30—Militant drys of the south will be called to meet here February 12-13, to discuss possible presidential candidates in the coming presidential race—particularly the southwestern boom for Franklin D. Roosevelt. Originally planned by the Texas W. C. T. U. as a state meeting, the the movement has been enlarged today to include dry ladies from Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Texas drys have voiced an ultimatum through the W. C. T. U. that they will disregard party lines to vote for the candidate who comes out for prohibition—or against the candidate with openly wet leanings.

'Four Hundred' Figures

Social Leaders Of New York And Nation As Seen By Ethelda Bedford, New Castle News Staff Writer

MISS ANNE MORGAN

By ETHELDA BEDFORD

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Miss Anne Morgan perhaps hears every day of her life that her fine luminous dark eyes are exactly like her famous father's—the late J. Pierpont Morgan, descendant of Alexander Hamilton, our first secretary of the treasury.

The adjective "magnificent" is often employed by those who know her father in their effort to describe him. He has been labeled therefore, "Morgan the Magnificent."

This adjective may well be used in describing his gracious daughter, who has followed in his footsteps in many ways.

Silvery hair, worn short and with just a hint of a loose wave, frames her face, which has a few lines and a freshness a school girl well might envy.

In Exclusive Colony

She has a beautifully appointed home on Sutton Place, that section which basks in the East river breeze and only can be afforded by millionaires.

She particularly favors the boudoir of her home and spends much time there. Her favorite chair is of crimson brocade and it sits beside an open fire in winter. Near it always are several of her best-liked books, her glasses, a tiny clock with a white face, a box of cigarettes and an ash tray and a handsome reading light.

Miss Morgan always has been a smart dresser, having a slim, straight figure, ideal for wearing costumes to their best advantage.

She wears golden beige lace extremely well, but usually it is a long rope of superb pearls and no other jewelry.

Likes photographs of friends around her.

Active In Women's Work

Miss Morgan is famous as president of the American Woman's association. She has been an active worker in this organization for many years and has long been interested in careers for women. In fact, "women's success—just the mentioning of those words during an interview kindle enthusiasm in her large dark eyes.

Miss Anne Morgan

She has unusually beautiful hands, with long, tapering fingers. Has an especially bright, sincere smile.

Makes friends and holds them over long periods. Is known for her straightforwardness and sincerity.

She can discuss politics of a current book with the same quality of interest.

Often Miss Morgan is described as "kind and wise." The term magnificent covers these and more. She is really a "great lady."

Applications From Many Americans Who Would Act In Drama

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—In an endeavor to secure a man to play the part of George Washington in a drama depicting his life and death, the Bi-Centennial Commission of the District of Columbia has received over 40 applications from males throughout the country who think they resemble the great President.

Regarding the selection the commission said:

"The man we are looking for to impersonate George Washington in the coming Washington pageant play to be held next June on the grounds at the base of the Washington Monument, should be six feet two inches, of fair complexion, with blue eyes, and, if possible, with that intangible force in his eyes which writers say was characteristic of Washington.

"The man who plays Washington should be athletic, with large hands, it being well known that Washington could easily take a horse shoe and bend it. The man should be calm, dignified, urbane, and thoroughly a gentleman. He should have every quality, so far as it is possible to possess it, that characterized Washington himself.

"I know that those in the theatrical profession think that one can make up to impersonate the character. We hold, however, that it is essential that the man who plays the part should have some of the qualities, both physical and spiritual, possessed by Washington. It is for this reason that we are making such a thorough search for the person who not only has the outward resemblance but has also some of the inward graces of Washington."

The state of New Jersey has thus far provided the largest number of men under consideration for the Washington role, five applications having been received from that state. New York has contributed four "modern Washingtons", and California three. The District of Columbia has furnished four and Virginia two. Other states represented with applicants include Connecticut, one; Ohio, two; Illinois, one; Washington, one; South Dakota, one; Oklahoma, two; Arizona, one; Pennsylvania, one; Maine, one; Nebraska, one; Missouri, one; Michigan, one; Kentucky, one; Kansas, one; Colorado, one.

Many of the men under consideration have previously enacted the role of George Washington in amateur or professional performances. The commission possesses photographs of several in colonial costume. The roster of names from the different states forms an extremely interesting list in the file of the District Bi-Centennial Commission's offices.

FARMER MODELS IN CLAY AFTER WORK

FORT WAYNE, Ind. Oct. 30.—Modeling clay taken from a well at his home is the hobby of Harold Rupel, who lives near here.

"After a day's work plowing or harvesting, I take time out for a few punches on the jaw of Donatello's slave," said Rupel, referring to "The Slave of Donatello," his most pretentious work.

Lack of money has hindered his work. "If I could sell some of the stock, or get a fair price for farm produce, I could get money to have the mold cast," he explained.

Despite his handicapped conditions, Rupel is an untiring student of art. He recalls that one book "actually cost $2."

ITALIAN AIR FLEET PLANS WORLD FLIGHT

ROME, Oct. 30.—A flight around the world and over some of the most hazardous sea routes on the globe is planned for a squadron of 24 Italian seaplanes commanded by the Fascist minister of air, General Italo Balbo.

Balbo's original intention to fly to the United States via the Azores has been changed to include Africa, North and Central America, Canada, the Orient, the Phillippines Islands, India and the Near East, the United Press learned. It is hoped to begin the flight in November from Lake Obertello, starting point for the squadron flight to Brazil last year.

EXPERT SAYS ANIMALS WISER IN LOVE AFFAIRS

Claims Man Originally Was The Same As An Animal

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Animals are wiser in matters of love and sex than mankind, it was stated by Dr. Pierre Barbier, noted French scientist, in an address before the International Psycho-Therapeutic Congress.

According to Dr. Barbier, civilization has made the mistake of setting up false values with regard to the physical emotions. He declared that many criminal perversions are the result of the suppression of natural instincts and desires. Modesty and fidelity, he characterized artificial virtues, interfering with the completeness of life.

"Man originally was the same as an animal," he said. 'But later he broke away from the animal rhythm of life. The result is that he has complicated existence with a matter that should be as simple as it is normal and necessary.

"Animals have no conception of chastity, modesty, or infidelity. Neither have they any sensation of voluptuousness. Man has created this with the evolution of a moral and mental attitude towards sex. The result, as we see it today in crimes makes it very difficult to pronounce upon morality."

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL FROM WORKHOUSE

Jesse Hemmingway, who was committed to the Allegheny county workhouse on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, was brought back to the Lawrence county jail yesterday where a commission in lunacy found him to be of unsound mind. He was taken to the Torrance State Hospital today by Deputy Sheriff Russell McBride.

Eynon Asks Motorists Give Children Chance On Hallowe'en Night

State Commissioner Of Motor Vehicles Urges Motorists To Drive Careful

Also Urges Upon Children That Defacing Of Autos Is Punishable By Law

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 30.—Benjamin G. Eynon, commissioner of Motor Vehicles, today appealed to Pennsylvania motorists to "give the kids a chance on Hallowe'en."

At the same time, Commissioner Eynon warned parents to caution children against tampering with automobiles.

In his appeal to drivers, Eynon said:

"The streets will be filled with groups of masked, fun-intent children on Hallowe'en. Older persons will be going to parties in their motor cars. Give the kids a chance. Drive carefully when approaching groups of children. They won't be thinking of danger. The operators of automobiles must think for them."

The indirect warning to the children follows:

"Parents can help make Hallowe'en safe for their children by cautioning them against tampering with automobiles. The vehicle code makes it an offense for an unauthorized person to sound the horn, handle the lever, set in motion or in any way tamper with or damage or deface a motor vehicle standing on the highway.

"Throwing of missiles at the occupants of a car is forbidden."

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Baptists of the city will be interested in learning that the first resident Baptist of this city was Mary Craven of New Jersey, who at an advanced age, came to this city, as she stated, "to visit her son and establish a Baptist church in New Castle. In a short time, William and Ann Book, members of Zion church, Butler county, moved to this city and these persons were soon aided by Edward Griswold of Giles, O. Griswold, and Maria Griswold of Connecticut, who had emigrated to Ohio. A prayer meeting was started and prayers were offered for success in their undertaking. These six were afterwards joined by John C. Davis and Jane, his wife, of Philadelphia. The prayer meetings were first held in an old log house in which Richard Craven then resided. This house house was on North street and the present church is located but one-half square from the first meeting place. The first sermons were preached by Rees Davis and John Winter, and these ministers were followed by William B. Barris and George I. Miles. The church was constituted November 27, 1843. There were seven present at the organization. The first meetings were held in vacated shops and upper-rooms and occasionally in other houses of worship. When the Protestant Methodist church was constructed, the Baptists furnished a small amount of capital and after this used the building at times. They had a claim on the church until 1848, when A. G. Kirk moved here and preached in a school house on North street., Their church was started in 1848 and was dedicated on the fourth Sunday in February, 1849. The first religious interest was in a series of meetings held by George I. Miles. The congregation grew and called Edward Miles as pastor for one-half his time. He remained pastor from 1845 to 1847, when A. G. Kirk was called as the first resideint pastor and remained for 11 years. Jesse B. Williams became pastor in 1859 and remained for three years. Other pastors following him included William Cowden, Samuel Williams, William Leet and George G. Craft. Since those days the denomination has made good progress and there are quite a number of Baptist churches in the city.

"ELECTRIC EYE" WILL SAVE FILM WASTAGE

DETROIT, Oct. 30.—The "electric eye," or photo-electric cell, is being developed here for photographic work, according to J. Thomas Rhamstine, designer and manufacturer of air signals. The new instrument will consist of a specially designed photo cell to measure the intensity of illumination, Rhamstine explained.

The manufacturer said the exposure meter, known as the "Electrophot," will be pointed directly at the photo subject. It will instantly show the light intensity and correct lens setting. According to Rhamstine, the instrument will prevent film wastage.

Council Will Settle Insurance Tax Fund Controversy Monday

Some final disposition of the dispute as to who gets the foreign fire insurance tax money sent to this city will probably be reached on Monday, November 2. City council Friday set that day as the time for a conference between all parties concerned, after J. Lee McFate, president of the Firemen's Relief Association had appeared before council to renew his request that the money be turned over to the association.

The point at issue is this. Pennsylvania collects two per cent of the premiums on foreign fire insurance policies in the state and this money goes to the relief of members of the fire departments in the state. The money so received for 1929 and 1930 has never been turned over to anybody, council feeling that there was some doubt as to where it should go.

Organized 44 Years

Speaking to council Mr. McFate said that the Firemen's Relief Association had been organized for 44 years starting when there was but one paid man in each fire house, the balance of the department being volunteers.

In those years McFate said, the association had provided relief for all firemen, and a death benefit of $500. This goes to volunteer and paid firemen alike. Upon questioning by Mr. Burns, Mr. McFate said that a paid fireman automatically became a member of the relief association without any payment of dues, and that the relief funds had always been paid to them or their decedents.

Several amendments to the original law providing for the payment of the money to relief associations has been made and the pension acts of 1929 raised a doubt in the minds of council as to whether the money should be paid to the relief association or taken over for pension funds. Attorney Charles Matthews also represents an organization which is not in agreement that the relief association should get the money it was said.

Recognized In 1898.

In 1898 city council recognized the rights of the Relief Association and passed such an ordinance. This, argued Mr. McFate cleared up any doubt as to whether the relief association was the proper body to receive the money.

Councilman Genkinger asked Mr. McFate if in the interest of the taxpayers it would not be a good idea for the relief association to take over the matter of pensions for firemen. Attorney Wylie McCaslin and City Solicitor Robert M. White were of the opinion that where any tax moneys were appropriated for pensions that council could not derogate its authority to an outside agency.

In order to get the matter cleared up Mr. Burns moved for a conference of all interested parties on Monday afternoon and the motion was passed.

WORKER-OWNED MINE RESTORES HOPE TO TOWN

(International News Service)

BICKNELL, Ind., Oct. 30.—Successful operation of a worker-owned coal mine has emerged from out the economic chaos which prevailed in Bicknell less than three years ago, causing want which brought help from all sections of Indiana. The mine is that of the Bicknell Coal Company.

Today there are 178 men on the payroll of the mine. They are employe-stockholders. Of 1,000 shares of stock in the company, 952 are owned by the workers. The remaining 48 shares are owned by local business men, whose money was used for immediate working capital when the venture was started two and one-half years ago.

The venture started with a debt of $91,000, representing the purchase price of what was the Panhandle shaft. Today the company is out of debt. Its mine is operating on a better than half-time basis, and its working owners are receiving a wage that while not as high as once prevailed, is considered far better than the idleness which formerly prevailed.

Behind the story of success is one of toil and denial. During the first 20 days that the mine was operated under the new control, workers received as wages only $1.50 a day. The present operating schedule is four to five days a week, despite conditions which have closed many privately owned mines.

Nor is the measure of success solely one of community betterment. The mine has a producing record of seven plus tons per man per operating day, against six tons under the former ownership. In the last two and one-half years, the mine has operated 516 days out of a possible 765 a percentage of 68.7 of full time.

To date, the worker controlled mine has placed $663,667 in business channels in Bicknell, including $562,934 paid for labor.

Launch Inquiry Into $500 Blaze Near City Line

State Fire Marshal Brush Arrives To Prove Fire On Alvaretta Boulevard

While the frame home of the Jacob Klish family of Alvaretta boulevard, Butler avenue extension, Shenango township, was being made habitable today following the blaze which brought an estimated loss of $500 early yesterday morning, city, state and county authorities began an inquiry to learn the cause of the fire. W. R. Brush of Butler, state fire marshal, arrived here today to probe the fire.

The Klishes are reported to have been asleep when their home caught fire about three a. m. The family of six escaped from the second floor by leaving through a window and down a ladder.

Firemen under Assistant Fire Chief Stockman found after successfully stopping the blaze that flames had eaten their way from the cellar through two parts of the first floor.

The first of these meetings will be held Wednesday afternoon November 4th at the farm of Homer Hilty near New Bedford. The second will be a meeting of the North Beaver Adult Record Association to be held at the home of W. R. Fox, Wednesday November 4th at 8:00 p. m.

TOMATO VARIETY WINS AS POPULAR FAVORITE

Marglobe was a universal favorite among tomatoes again this year wherever it was grown. It was very uniform in size, globe-shaped, smooth, and very solid. In demonstrations where this variety was compared with other main crop varieties it was preferred.

The new early variety called Break O'Day which has just been introduced and was tried this year by the public for the first time did well in some cases and not so well in others. It is not so early as claimed, coming in about the same time as Bonny Best. The fruits are smooth and resemble Marglobe to some extent in shape and solidity but there is a large variation in size. Growers differ in their opinions as to its future.

Penn State Earliana led other strains of Earliana again this year in smoothness, earliness, and yield. It is particularly adapted to Pennsylvania conditions where heavy soils predominate.

STORE ROOT CROPS AND CABBAGE BEFORE FREEZE

A supply of beets, turnips, and other root vegetables and cabbage for the use of the family until next May can be harvested and properly stored just before freezing weather makes its return trip.

Cool, moderately moist air is necessary for successful storage of these vegetables. The best temperature is just above freezing, 32 to 35 degrees Fahrenheit, and just enough moisture should be present to prevent wilting or shriveling. Cabbage requires a medium amount of ventilation, while the root vegetables require a medium to small amount.

Medium sized root vegetables that are neither old nor tough should be selected. The tops are usually cut or twisted off near the crown and the roots left on. Only the well matured, but not bursted, cabbage heads that are free from disease should be put in storage.

Many places are available for storage. Small quantities of root vegetables may be stored in discarded milk cans, placing moistened sand or soil on top to prevent shriveling. The barrel pit, described in the Pennsylvania State College Circular 120, "The Family Vegetable Garden," makes an inexpensive, practical place for the home gardener, who wishes to store enough to supply the family during the winter. A cool, moist cellar with a dirt floor and a window for ventilation is another good place. In the cellar or outdoor storage pit the piles should not be over 4 to 5 feet high, and slatted bins should be constructed to allow adequate ventilation.

NEW FALL STYLES FOR PULLETS ARE COSTLY

Many Lawrence County poultrymen find that the change in style of pullets by the loss and renewal of feather is, as a rule, expensive. The expense is not caused by the high price of new feathers but the loss of egg production during the molting period.

There are few flocks that do not molt, if they start to lay in late summer or early fall. The length of the vacation from egg laying depends on the severity of the molt. If pullets go into a very slight molt, they lose feathers only on the heads and back of the necks. Some birds lay through this molt while other lay 10 to 14 days.

When pullets have a heavier molt they lose feathers all over their bodies. This body molt is far more severe and can keep birds out of production for a month. The next stage is the tail molt, which will keep the birds out of production from 3 to 6 weeks. The last and most serious is the wing molt which may cause loss of production from 5 to 10 weeks.

Among the causes of fall molts are early laying, laying before feather growth is completed, high susceptibility to molts, intestinal parasites, scares, sudden changes in management, quick changes in weather, and poultry diseases epidemics.

Farmers having flocks of early laying pullets which do not molt may attribute this to well-bred birds, good management, and good luck because the birds were not hindered by any of the factors beyond human control.

NEED GOOD STORAGE TO KEEP FRUIT SAFE

Approximately seventy-five per cent of the apples grown in Lawrence County are consumed by local markets. To supply this trade the grower must be prepared to furnish his market with apples late in the winter season as well as early in the fall. Orderly marketing demands a constant supply throughout the season.

Obivously, it is profitable to store only sound, well-matured, and blemish-free fruit. Poor fruit costs just as much to store as good fruit. Profits resulting from storage always are greater on quality fruit.

Ventilation, temperature, and humidity are the three limiting factors in farm storage. Humidity and ventilation can be controlled quite well by the average fruit growers. Ventilation shafts and openings can be so planned as to take full advantage of the movement of air. This means the dispelling of warm air and the intake of cool days and nights. Electric fans or gasoline-driven motors may be used to advantage in circulating the air.

Closely associated with ventilation is the matter of humidity. Under common storage conditions, it is difficult to get too much moisture in the air where apples are to be stored. Sand, dirt, or cinder floors in storages are therefore more desirable than concrete. The great water-absorbin capacity of the former materials makes an ideal floor. When kept well wetted down, the constant evaporation from the floor keeps the fruit from shriveling. Where no water is available the dry air will draw moisture from the fruit.

Lack of artificial cold or refrigeration is the chief drawback in the farm storage. Every opportunity for opening the storage doors and ventilation shafts during protracted cold spells in the early fall must be used in order to bring the temperature of the fruit well below 40 degrees Fahrenheit. The ideal temperature of 34 degrees is hard to obtain in the common storage, but if the fruit can be kept between 34 and 40 degrees satisfactory results will be obtained.

Shredded oil paper containing about 15 per cent oil will aid in preventing storage scald. It is presumed that the oil in shredded paper or in waxed individual wrappers absorbs the gases given off by the fruit during storage. The additional expense of waxed or oiled paper is not warranted, however, unless the fruit is of high quality.

Strenuous Events For Legionnaires In Philadelphia

Remainder Of Year Will Find Philadelphia Legion Members Quite Busy

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Philadelphia legionnaires are confronted with a strenuous program of events during the remainder of the year. A meeting of the newly organized department executive committee will be held here November 7 at which District Commander George J. Proesl, of Dubois, will be present.

Cat Cataclysm Faces Country

Why Is It Necessary To Control The Feline Population

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 30—A cataclysm in catdom as described by Robert F. Sellar, director of the Animal Rescue League of Boston was catapulted into the sessions of the American Humane Association here yesterday.

Sellar, who earlier had deplored that fact that felines deserted in the Catskills by resorters were turning catamount, destroying small wild life and birds, discussed catagorically urban aspects of the "cat catastrophe." He talked in big figures.

"Take Boston," he said. "Last year 60,000 cats were destroyed, half of which were females. Suppose our league had allowed these cats to live. Why, at conservative estimates we'd have had a 1931 crop of 300,000 kittens. By the end of the year we'd have had 2,100,000 cats running around the streets and alleys of Boston. And no telling where it would end."

Mr. Stellar, who is fond of cats, admitted there has to be some control of the cat population, despite pleas of protection.

"Without control" he said "we'd have more than a catastrophe. We'd have a cataclysm."

SHOE SHOP OPENING CALLS OUT RESERVES

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—Police reserves had to be called out when C. Bata, the Czechoslovakian, "shoe-king" often called the "European Ford," opened his first two shoe-shops in the midst of Berlin City.

The "invasion" caused hostile gatherings in front of the shops, and the German shoe manufacturers hired "sandwich men" who carried around boards with the inscription, "Germans, buy German shoe!"

Bata, anticipating such attacks, had hired all space on the public "bill board columns" those strange-looking high tubes at street corners used for advertising, on which he announced that his shops were selling the "best and cheapest shoes in Europe."

Meals At 4 To 12 Cents Are Served In Restaurants

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 30. — Quick lunch restaurants where you can eat until you have enough and not be charged more than four, six or twelve cents for the meals you choose, have been opened in all quarters of the city, and are always over-crowded.

The owner is content with a minimum profit per meal, in most cases not exceeding one or two pfennigs (one fourth and one half of a cent) and claims that his business is flourishing despite the low prices.

At four cents you get a dish of beans or peas or other fresh vegetables. If you want a piece of meat or lard with it, the charge runs to six cents.

A three-course meal consisting of soup, meat, vegetables, potatoes and some stewed fruit is served at twelve cents.

The tables are decked with white linen and the restaurants look so decent that many middle-class people take their lunches there.

Wives of workers consider the meals so cheap that they prefer to fetch their lunches from the restaurant rather than preparing them at home.

MONACA PLAYS ELLWOOD ELEVEN ON SATURDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 30.—Fans anticipate another close and hard fought contest when Lee Berkman's boys of Monaca invade Ellwood City for the annual football battle with Ellwood high at Lincoln field at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

The local team has been drilled all this week against a surprise attack and feels that its aerial defense is much improved and therefore will enter the field of battle a slight favorite. The Ellwood boys are taking no chances against an upset.

Ellwood fans may see a new and interesting play unleashed against Monaca on Saturday and which adopted from the third team. The play was introduced by their coach, Ernest Hensley, in Tuesday's scrimmage session and functioned against the first string for five consecutive times for big gains. The play is a good ground gainer as well as clever.

Coaches Gills and Lloyd paced their charges through their third consecutive scrimmage Thursday afternoon and were not as well pleased as in the other two days. The varsity was having some difficulty in gaining through the third team. The varsity's work was outstanding on last Tuesday and Wednesday. The line did not live up to expectations yesterday.

This week's practice sessions were featured by the splendid attendance of gridders. Every player that was in condition to do so was out and in the past two days the squad reported in full strength. Vanderillo and Frisk were in their roles and scrimmaged again yesterday. Mike Paal and Luxenberg, the other injured boys, saw a little action and Bill Pander and Segedi played in their usual places. Much spirit has been evident in the workouts this week.

An interesting fact was revealed to local fans in the past two games. The blue and white machine has developed a dangerous running attack and with its fine aerial attack should go through the remainder of the season undefeated.

Ellwood's starting lineup will probably have Captain Sam Neff and Butler at the wings, Welsh and Vogt at the tackles, Allan Wilson and Gorzcowski at guards, Savalier at center, Kennedy at quarter, Frisk and Vanderillo at the halves and Luxenberg or Wilson at full. Monaca is out to avenge last year's 9-7 defeat.

PUPILS ARE GUESTS

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 30—The pupils of Miriam Johnson, and a few of their friends met at her home on Spring avenue Thursday evening, October 29, for an informal recital. Each pupil played a composition studied recently in order to gain experience in playing for an audience and to allow the rest of the class to hear his work. A special feature of the program was a demonstration, by several pupils of work they have been doing in Improvisation and Creative Composition. The audience was allowed to choose the key and the rhythm plan, and the pupils improvised a short but complete composition accordingly.

After the program of piano playing, games were played testing ear and rhythm memory. These games will lead to a contest in music memory and ear training in a few months.

Voters of Lawrence County—

SHALL I BE ELECTED COUNTY COMMISSIONER?

It is up to you to decide and the result depends entirely upon your votes. I have laid my qualifications before you, and I submit for your earnest consideration my record, both as a citizen and as a business man and farmer.

Are you in favor of two-party government and the safeguards and checks it imposes upon the majority party? If so, give me your vote and elect me the sole Democratic nominee, one of your three County Commissioners as intended by law and as long established by custom. I have great confidence in you and believe that you will elect the two best qualified majority party men to be my associates in office, and I assure you that as your minority party representative I will respect your choice and that I will give my fullest co-operation and support to them, so that we may have an efficient and economic administration of your affairs.

Farmers, unless you vote for and elect me you will be without representation on the Board of County Commissioners. Numerically the Republican Party in Lawrence County is so strong that you registered Republicans can elect any three you like to the Commissioners' office. I believe that I am at least entitled to receive from you equal consideration with the two independent candidates.

Remember, if elected I will not be a candidate to succeed myself in office. It is the long established custom among Democrats in Lawrence County that the Democratic Commissioner shall not be a candidate to succeed himself in this office and that he shall not play politics while in office. I WILL NOT VIOLATE THIS CUSTOM.

Remember, Voters of Lawrence County—the Law Does Not Give You a Democratic County Commissioner. The Three Receiving the Highest Number of Votes Are Elected Irrespective of Party

DO NOT DRAW YOUR PARTY LINES TOO CLOSE. The independent candidates for the office have not or they would have waited until the next Commissioner election four years hence before again asking for your vote and support.

The matter is entirely in your hands. You are the judge; if you favor the continuance of the minority party's representative in the office, and if you consider my personal qualifications equal or superior to those of the other candidates, be fair and give me a vote.

Respectfully Submitted

W. GROVER STEVENSON

(POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT)

VOTE and ELECT ME COUNTY COMMISSIONER FARMERS

—Or you will have no farmer representative in that office. Everything depends on whether or not you give me a VOTE NEXT TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 3rd.

I respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

Reed, Coveting Presidency, Caught By Speakership Spell

By EDWARD MAYL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Another of America's near-greats, who could not shake the spell of the Speakership in his quest for the Presidency, was Thomas Brackett Reed, of Maine, reputed the greatest parliamentarian of the Republic, and the man who introduced "Cannonism," in the lower house. He was honest, able, and strong enough politically to defeat William McKinley in the Republican caucus of 1891 for the speaker's post. His position made him well known, or better, than Grover Cleveland, then serving his second term. Still the honor and power of the Presidency, which he craved, passed him by.

Reed hated McKinley with an undying fervor, and when the G. O. P. caucus and the House named him Speaker, his first act was to name McKinley chairman of the ways and means committee. By this seeming magnanimous act, the New Englander sought to destroy the Ohio governor, but the post made it possible for McKinley's name to become a by-word. The McKinley tariff bill, as the canny New Englander had calculated, brought untold odium upon the man whose name it bore, in the early days of Cleveland's second administration, but the panic which ushered out the New Yorker's public career, caused a revulsion of public feeling, and the traiff bill was subsequently hailed as the economic bulwark which saved the nation.

The St. Louis convention of 1900 gave Reed 83½ votes on the first ballot, and nominated McKinley without further ado. The Speaker chose to attribute his defeat to the use of Mark Hanna's gold, but a perusal of their times does not bear out the contention. It was Reed's unbending will and not Hanna's money bags which enabled the Ohioans to win the southern delegates to the McKinley wing at the Mound City conclave.

Twenty-five years had elapsed since the Civil War, when Reed became Speaker of the House, but the Mason-Dixon line had not yet begun to fade from American politics. The problem of the Republican party of Reed's day, was to assure the vote for the negro, and with this in mind Henry Cabot Lodge, another solid New Englander, introduced the Force bill, an act requiring U. S. Marshals to supervise elections, and of course enforcing the "equal rights" sections of the constitution guaranteeing the negro vote in the South for the benefit of the G. O. P. Reed led the fight for the bill which eventually was defeated in the House by one vote, after three bitter days. The Senate shelved the question, and there it rots. Reed's activities for the Southern negro made him few friends even among the "black leg" Republicans of Dixie.

The limelight of the Speakership made Reed a powerful figure in the press of his time, but ruined him. He was a stickler for rules, especially if the rules added to his influence. Known as a great parliamentarian, the Portland citizen chose to give his personal interpretation to the rules governing the House, and reigned with such high handed conduct that the Democrats refused to vote the customary and meaningless resolution of thanks at the end of his term.

Tey called him "Czar" Reed, and Republicans and Democrats alike conspired to limit the power of the speaker, and through the combination of forces led by Champ Clark and George W. Norris of Nebraska, began a revolution which curbed Reed as well as "Uncle Joe" Cannon, another who chose to rule with the mailed fist.

As the St. Louis convention days approached, it was evident the choice lay between Speaker Reed and William McKinley, but Reed's place in the race seemed to be more a personal desire than any movement to name him. Maine, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, of the New England states endorsed him, New Hampshire straddled and chose delegates friendly to both men, but Vermont went unqualifiedly for the man from the middle west. The south too, remembered Reed's fight for the Force bill and sent McKinley delegates to the Missouri convention.

It was apparent to all that Mckinley would be named on the first ballot, but Reed continued the fight, even Joseph Manley, a member of the national committee from Maine, in charge of Reed's interests, made a statement that "the vote in the national committee was so overwhelmingly for Governor McKinley that it settles the nomination on the first ballot."

Reed served one more term as Speaker, practiced law, became an after-dinner speaker, and the writer of political articles in our national weeklies.

It is believed that it was the first time that a newspaper published a novel serially.

Explorer Maps Polar Air Route To Scandinavia

Will Be Of Immence Importance To International Mail

(International News Service)

OSLO, Oct. 30—Plans for a "polar air route" from America to Scandinavia have been given out by the Danish explorer, Peter Freuchen, who is one of the chief promoters of the new project. The plans create considerable attention on this side of the water as it is believed that their realization will prove to be of immense importance to the international mail transport.

The route is scheduled to start in Detroit and proceed to Roberts House, Great River, on the west coast of Labrador, then to Wakham Bay, on the north coast of Labrador, and then across the Hudson Strait to Cumberland Sound and further, to Greenland.

The first landing-place in Greenland is planned at Nepiset, where the island's only fortress is located. From that place the airplane will fly to Stream-fjord, where the American professor Hobbs lived for one year, and next to Angmagsalik on the east coast.

Proceeding from Greenland, it is intended to fly to Iceland—either to the northern or the southern part depending on the fog and wind situation. The Faroe Islands is the next step, provided the winds do not compel the machines to continue clear to the Shetlands. Then comes Stavanger on the west coast of Norway and finally the airplanes land in Copenhagen, Denmark.

In Stavanger the mail will be sorted so that it can be sent by other airroutes all over Scandinavia. According to these plans there will be a total of twelve landing stations across the route and each pilot will only have to fly six hours at a time.

Questioned as to the usefulness of an air route of this sort, Mr. Freuchen called attention to the immense quantity of mail being transported across the Atlantic. "No less than 4,500,000 letters are daily carried between Europe and America," he said. Each airplane is planned to carry 18,000 letters. The complete distance of the air route is expected to be traversed in 36 hours. Next year the material for the landing stations will be shipped to their places of determination. It is intended to start with 12 machines and 20 pilots.

Liberty And Law

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

There is no gift of God to man that is not capable of either use or abuse. Used as God intended it to be, the gift may be made a blessing; prostituted to sinful purposes, the same gift may be made a curse.

It is so with liberty. Few gifts of God are more precious. Yet even liberty is a two-edged sword. One may use it against himself to self destruction as well as claim its protection. It was this double possibility of the use and abuse of liberty that Paul had in mind when he wrote that great magna charta of Christian liberty, his espitle to the Galatians, and said, "For ye, brethren, were called unto freedom: only use not your freedom for an occasion to the flesh, but through love be servants one to another." In other words, there is a higher law than the law of liberty, and that is the law of love. That is why Jesus said, 'If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be freed indeed." There is no freedom in sin, selfishness or sensuality, for "Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin." Selfishness is the prostitution of freedom that turns it into bondage. Liberty is as truly social as it is personal. It is concerned with the welfare of others, and not merely the desires of self. "For the whole law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Satisfy or Crucify

The test of liberty is one's ability to bind his own inner passions and appetites. "He that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city." Our greatest victories or defeats are those wrought out on the inner battlefields between the forces of the Spirit and those of the flesh. "The flesh lusteth against the spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: for these are contrary the one to the other: that ye may not do the things that ye would." A voice from below says, "Be yourself! Satisfy the flesh." Another voice from above says "Deny youself! Crucify the flesh." Accordingly, self-expression may be good or bad, depending upon whether it is this higher or lower self that is permitted to express itself. Expression of the baser self begets the works of the flesh. . . . fornication uncleanliness, lasciviousness, idolotry, sorcery, enmities, strife, jealousies, wraths, factions, divisions, parties, envyings, drunkenness, revellings and the like." Whether we like to admit it or not, this filthy brood of unclean things, represents human nature when allowed to run its own course in unrestrained personal liberty. But along with these Paul enumerates another harvest of an entirely different type which he calls, "the fruit of the Spirit. . . love, joy, peace, long suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control."

Power of New Affection

But mere 'don't" and prohibitions, which are restrictive and not constructive, will never give victory over the "lusts of the flesh." This is achieved by what has been termed 'the expulsive power of a new affection." This new and highest affection Paul indicates in the words: "They that are of Christ have crucified the flesh with the passion and the lusts thereof."

(The International Uniform Lesson for November 1 is Galatians 5:-13-26, the subject being, "World's Temperance Sunday" and the Golden Text, Eph. 5:18, "Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess: but be filled with the Spirit."

"Buried" 4 Years, Comes Back Home

(International News Service)

GLASGLOW, Oct. 30—"Buried" four years ago by his parents, George Miller, 19, has come home.

The story of the lad's "death" rivals the fictioned drowning of Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn.

Six years ago George left home Two years later his mother identified the body of a boy killed in a street accident as her son, through a scar on the left leg. The dead boy was buried and a stone erected to his memory.

Last night a neighbor saw a boy resembling George Miller walking in the street. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were notified, and the boy was found and identified.

Now police are confronted with the problem of identifying the boy who was buried.

Chicago Fire Cow Cleared

Claimed That Spark From A Clay Pipe Started Conflagration

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Justice finally has been done to Mrs. O'Leary's cow, John P. Keefe declares, and if so a middle western American folk tale has been shattered.

The children of the middle westerners for three-score years have been growing up believing, as implicitly as the Washington cherry tree story, that on Oct. 9, 1871, a certain Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over her mistress' lantern and precipitated the great Chicago fire.

Mrs. O'Leary's cow became a symbol. The drama in the tableau of a cow as the agent of a force which reduced Chicago to the ruins upon which a glorious new city was built was too obvious to be missed.

Now comes John P. Keefe with a story about a group of boys, a hay loft and a clay pipe.

"Back in 1886," said Keefe, who was 15 at the time of the fire, "I met a man who said he and three other boys started the fire. I can't remember his name now. The story was told even in those days that even if Mrs. O'Leary's cow had kicked over the lantern, that didn't start the fire.

"This fellow said he and the other boys were hiding in Mrs. O'Leary's hay loft and saw her milk the cow. When they left they got out their clay pipe to steal a smoke. Sparks from the pipe started the great Chicago fire."

THE GREATER MARVEL

Seeing the picture of an unfortunate playing the piano, Tommy exclaimed: "Look at the man playing without hands."

"That's nothing," replied his playmate, "my mother sings and dad often say she hasn't any voice."

Veteran Tells Of 40 Years As Guard Of Grant's Tomb

By CLYDE WALKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—"Modern people live for the present and care very little for the past."

George D. Burnside, forty years custodian of General Grant's Tomb, makes this observation out of depth of experience.

"600,000 persons a year viewed the tomb when it was first completed" he told International News Service—"but now barely 200,000 persons pass through here, and most of them are merely curosity seekers caring little for the historical value of the place. I don't know what is the cause of the decline unless the people today are too tied up in present-day affairs and have neither time nor desire to look back into the history of those great men who made our country what it is."

Burnside is now 70 years old and has spent the last forty years there in Grant's tomb—ill or well.

"The place seems like my home now and I just can't stay away," he said.

Now gray-haired and wrinkled, this veteran of many barrages of questions can relate many amusing incidents. Sitting there in the dingy little office by the entrance of the tomb, his old pipe in his mouth and his G. A. R. cap at a rakish angle, the old man drifted back to precious memories of his past.

"Yes," he said, "I knew the General and his whole family. I knew all the children of the family. When the work on the tomb was started I was made superintendent of the laborers and for six-years we worked—putting just one layer of stone on a day, and letting it "settle" for a day, and then the same thing over and over. Finally, when the building was finished, they naturally looked to me as custodian, and custodian I have been ever since.

"The job I have here takes lots of patience. Right here I sit all day long with just my helper and the curious people to keep me company. I guess lots of people nowadays couldn't stand it to stay in one place so long with no more happening than it does here, but me, why I'd be very unhappy if I thought I'd have to leave here now."

The old fellow knows every nook and cranny in the whole building. "You know," he said, "it's funny, there are three million bricks in this building and "nary a one" can a person see—isn't that a wonderful piece of work?

"It's a shame," the old czar of the tomb continued "that people don't take more interest in such places and read up on them more. Why sometimes people come here and look around and when they get ready to leave they ask me 'where is the horse' isn't it buried here too—the bus driver said so.' They sometimes think that there is a child buried here too—there is a child buried just across the drive over there, it's been there about 120 years—I know it's history too, but that's too long a story. Oh, the different classes of people and the variety of questions they ask would get under any man's skin—if he wasn't used to it."

After talking on various interesting subjects pertaining to the tomb the kindly old man finally said in conclusion: "There are lots of details to be attended to around a place like this—you wouldn't think so, but its so—and it keeps me pretty busy. I guess it is about the cheapest run place of its kind in the world though, at that.

"When I pass on they will have to look a long time before they find anyone who will take the interest and have the patience that I've had."

Samuel Abbott's Last Poem – On Cape Cod Canal

(International News Service)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 30—Scarcely two months before his death in St. Luke's hospital here following a brief illness, Samuel Abbott, well known lecturer and writer, wrote his last poem.

He died at the age of 66. He was a former literary editor in New York City, and was an intimate friend of the late Nicholas Longworth while taking a post graduate course at Harvard University.

He knew Cape Cod and its historic legends intimately. His last poem dealt with the new Cape God Canal. It follows:

The Boat Goes Through

Spectres of men in the dusk
Haunt the deep swale and the sedges;
Pilgrim and Indian stand
In shadows along the stream's edges.
The night is laden with wonder,
Waters have conquered the sand;
The dunes are riven asunder.

Majestic, alone in her pride,
The boat goes through in her glory;
The dream of the years has come true
And history wins a great story,
Parting the tides of the bay,
A vision of pride and of beauty,
A prow with a ripple of foam

HISTORIC MANSION TO HAVE FAREWELL PARTY

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. Oct. 30—The old Morgan mansion headquarters for President McKinley and his wife while visiting San Francisco and for many years one of the few remaining landmarks of a past age, will be host to one more merry party before falling into oblivion under the hands of wreckers. Although worn and slightly shabby, it will tremble once again under the feet of San Francisco's artists and bohemians before it is razed.

Purchased in the early '90's by William P. Morgan, the historic art center was once the center of interest of the nation. While in San Francisco the late President McKinley stayed in the Scott mansion next door. His wife was taken ill and through newspapers and press services established in the Morgan home, the President was able to keep the world informed on the condition of the first lady.

Minor Matters Before Council

Several Appeals Are Made By Residents Of Croton District

Mrs. Anna Williams of Croton avenue appeared today before city council and asked that something be done to rectify some damage done to a property of hers at the corner of Croton and Ray streets which she claimed was sustained when Ray street was improved.

Mrs. Williams said that a wall had been exposed by the removal of dirt and that it was impossible to get coal into the cellar. Council will view the property and decide on its action later.

Robert Masturtum of Cascade street said that when Cascade street was graded, Smith and McQuiston had taken some 300 loads of dirt from his property without permission. He said that he agreed that the city was not to blame but that he had no legal redress against the company because of its financial condition. He offered to settle if council would exonerate this year's city taxes. This matter was referred to City Solicitor Robert M. White.

Pennsylvania Power Company asked permission to change a pole on East Washington street near Kurtz street and the permission was granted.

BYRD'S RADIO OPERATOR TEACHING IN SEATTLE

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 30. — Two years ago Howard Mason, at the ends of the earth, was feverishly tapping out the radio code to the world that listened for the broadcast of the doings of Richard Evelyn Byrd and his companions on their conquest of the Antarctic.

Today Howard Mason is tapping out the same radio code, but only students in a commercial radio school here listen.

Mason, 31, has returned to his Seattle home and lives with his mother. He still has the framework of the amateur wireless set he constructed before the war.

Mason went north with Sir Hubert Wilkins' party in 1926 and again in 1927 and it was Sir Hubert who recommended him to Byrd.

"Of course this work is pleasant, but it hasn't the thrills I had with Byrd," says Mason. "However, it's a long wait for such expeditions and one must eat!"

FLYING NURSE PLANS RETURN TO COLOMBIA

Maybe patients won't want to get well when Miss Jeanne Axford Thomas of Dallas, Tex., returns to Colombia, South America, as a nurse. After flying over the jungles in her professional capacity a few years ago, she quit nursing to study aviation. Now she is trying for a mechanic's license, in Dallas, and will then fly back to Colombia.

New Equipment To Send Divers 2,000 Feet Deep

Depths Never Before Explored Will Be Penetrated By New Device

(International News Service)

ROME, Oct. 30—The heroic efforts of Italian divers to reach the muddy treasure room of the gold laden ship, Egypt, sunk off the coast of Brest, has brought to notice that Italian engineers lead in the construction of new types of diving apparatus.

Signor Giovanni Galeazzi is putting the finishing touches on a new kind of diving tower with which he expects to reach a depth of nearly 2,000 feet, many times deeper than man has gone before. Engineer Galeazzi already has invented a diving tower which reaches nearly 1,000 feet under water.

Galeazzi has overcome the immense water pressure by making his diving towers of a light steel produced under a secret process. Properly speaking they are not diving suits since the man within the tower is only an observer and cannot walk or use his hands. The tower resembles a huge cylinder into which the diver is screwed. The interior is rubber covered to protect the diver.

By means of a telephone the diver observer directs the movements of the tower. Six unbreakable glass windows provide eyes through which he reports his findings to the surface. His observations permit the surface crew to direct grappling hooks and other devices for salvaging to the proper places. Glass windows are also provided on the bottom. To penetrate the darkness of deep sea depths, a red light of 20,000 candlepower is used.

The chief advantage of these new towers according to the inventor, is their ability to reach depths never before explored.

Sir Arthur Keith, the biologist, says war keeps people wholesome. We often wondered why Tennessee thought biology silly.

Blondes Beat Her

Mrs. Isabelle Alexander (above), who posed for those "school girl complexion" advertisements, looks beautiful enough as a brunette to keep any man wildly enthusiastic, but apparently her husband is too much of a "gentleman" where blondes are concerned. Mrs. Alexander, suing in New York for a divorce, says her husband spends all of his time with flaxen-haired women.

COMMENDABLE NOMINEES

All the Republican nominees are commendable and are well qualified for the respective offices for which the Republican voters have selected them. The people have spoken in time of thought and cool judgment and selected at the Primaries those they desire to represent them at the coming November Election. The candidates who submitted their names as Republicans at the Primaries and the voters, knowing the rules and customes of the Party, tacitly agreed that the candidates would abide with the results of the Primaries and the rules of the Party and the nominees would receive the Party's support at the Election.

Under those rules and implied understanding, the voters cast their votes and nominated the nominees by substantial majorities and by an honest vote. There has been no charge of fraud or of unfair means exerted in nominating them. There has been no charge that any of nominees are dishonest or incapable to perform their duties, if elected, or will be unfaithful to the public trust. On the contrary, the nominees have proven their honesty and ability by their lives and good deeds. Do they not then deserve our support? Is there any good reason why we should not support them? We know of none and have heard of none.

The majority rule principle of selecting officials has been adopted and successfully practiced by all parties of representative governments immemorial. Under this custom our government has prospered and been most successful.

The Republican Party and its County Committee has faith in this time honored custom and believe in the majority rule mode of selecting our public officials as the best method yet devised. It, therefore, recommends the election of each Republican nominee and urges the Republicans to support their own nominees. Each Republican nominee is worthy of your support and by your vote so cast, you will not regret it. You will feel you have performed your duty and were fair to the candidates of your choice and to your Party.

The regular Republican candidates selected neither the County Committee nor its Chairman. The Independent candidates have seen fit to attack the Chairman of the Committee, and on that basis to urge their own election at this time. Had these Independent candidates been nominated at the Primaries, we still would have had the same County Committee and the same Chairman. If the argument of the Independent candidates has any merit, which we deny, this argument would have been just as good, or just as bad, against them, had they been nominated, as it is against the present Republican candidates. Neither the regular Republican Candidates nor the Independent Candidates selected the Republican County Committee or its Chairman. We offer no apologies for the Republican County Committee. We believe them to be respectable men and women: but if they are as bad as the independent candidates wish to paint them, it was the voters of this county, and not the present candidates that elected them.

We notice that the independent candidates desire to monopolize all the virtues of Governor Pinchot. We recognize that last year, as now, there have been and are, some differences of opinion as to Governor Pinchot. However, when he was nominated, he made a claim for party regularity. Recognizing the validity of his claim, the then County Committee and its then and present Chairman supported the whole ticket. The present County Committee was elected at the same Primary at which Governor Pinchot was nominated, and the present organization of the County Committee was supported by the friends of the Governor. We know of no candidate on the Republican ticket that did not support the whole ticket last year.

The Republican County Committee is composed of two members elected by the Republican voters from each election district in the City and County and as the result of a City and County canvass just completed, it confidently predicts the election of each Republican nominee by large substantial majorities. Let us make the majorities as large as possible. Be sure to vote.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE.
WM. A. EAKIN, Chairman.

October Boy Scout Court Finds More Scouts Here Winning Coveted Honors

WORK OF YOUTHS PRAISED BY MEN

The October session of the New Castle district court of honor was held last night at the First Christian church, and in spite of many other attractions dear to the hearts of scouts these Hallowe'en days, a large audience was present. Frank Hasson, G. H. Cartwright, Edwin Schmid and Sidney Smith, with Ray Ziegler and the executive, served as members of the court. Badges awarded were as follows:

Promotions Given

From tenderfoot to second class rank: Robert Zahniser, of Troop 15. From second class to first class rank; Joe Ferris of New Wilmington 1, and Russell Book of New Castle 15.

Second class rank: Joe Ferris, New Wilmington 1, poultry keeping, farm layout and building arrangements, and horsemanship; Robert Sanders, Troop 17, metal work and bookbinding.

First class merit badges: troop 15, Fulton Cook, civics; Robert M. Ray, basketry, carpentry, leathercraft and pioneering; Ralph K. Davies, civics and pioneering; Herman Kitchen, electricity, cooking, first aid to animals and athletics. Troop 17: Dick Hamilton, woodworking, metal working, civics and pioneering; Joe Lloyd, firemanship, handicraft and pioneering, Robert G. Love, basketry, public health, swimming and life-saving; Bud McCamic, pioneering, metal work and woodworking; Bob Miner, metal work, woodworking and public health; Robert W. Moore, camping, reading; Bill Shira, metal work, pioneering and public health; Troop 37, Seascout George Horton, basketry. Eagle Scout Hans Holm, New Wilmington 1, machinery, farm planning and forestry.

The following scouts were advanced from merit badge rank to Star Scout rank; Fulton Cook and Ralph K. Davies of Troop 15, and Robert G. Love of Troop 17.

Bill Shira of troop 17 was advanced from Star rank to Life rank.

New 'Eagle' Scouts

Junior Assistant Scoutmaster William Powell of Troop 17, having been approved by the National Court of Honor, was advanced from Life to Eagle Scout rank. Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Robert M. Ray of troop 15, having completed the requirements for Eagle rank, submitted his awards to the court, and was recommended to the National Court of Honor for Eagle rank.

The new awards for the "standard grade" camping contest were presented to representatives of Troop 15, 17 and New Wilmington 1, who were present. The device is a tiny green teepee, with the figures "31" on it, and is worn on the right shirt pocket of the uniform. These three troops made better than 850 points out of a possible 1000.

Honor Meet Victors

Awards were also given to scout teams who won them at the recent field meet: Troop 15, for troop review, tent pitching, signalling and fire by friction; and Troop 37, for dressing and waterboiling.

These standings will make some changes in the troop contest now going on in council troops; as Ellwood also held its court last week. It is hoped to have these compiled by tomorrow. The November court of honor was announced for November 19, and it is believed to have a sound movie of Navy Life shown by the local recruiting officer, Harry Allison. All scouts, scout parents and scouters are invited to witness this.

Detroiter Protests Ryan's Charges Of Starvation Deaths

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, chairman of the senate manufacturers' committee, on Thursday received a protest from the Detroit Board of Commerce on testimony before his group indicating Detroit hospitals were receiving many victims of starvation.

The protest was signed by Harvey Campbell, vice president and secretary of the board, who asked permission to deny the testimony.

La Follette, in reply, asked him if a statement for the Record would be satisfactory and promised him a chance to appear if he desired.

The testimony questioned was presented by Dr. John A. Ryan of the National Catholic Welfare board.

Campbell in his message said he wanted to correct the impression that "one person starves to death every seven hours and 15 minutes in Detroit," as charged by Dr. Ryan. Campbell also wired Dr. Ryan asking him to clear the record and inform the committee that not one single death has occurred in Detroit from starvation.

Campbell said Dr. Ryan's statements apparently were based on a recent magazine article. Statements appearing in that article have been denied by Detroit hospital officials and members of the public welfare committee.

He was driving from one side of the road to the other in Frenchcreek township. Arraigned before Alderman McVay on information preferred by two motor patrolmen he was fined $10 and costs.

It's great to FEEL FIT!

TODAY'S the day of outdoor life! Men and women retain their youth — their joy in a healthful, vigorous body.

A daily enemy of health is constipation. Intestinal sluggishness often leads to headaches, backaches, lack of pep, premature aging, loss of good looks.

It is unwise to fight constipation with habit-forming pills and drugs. They often do more harm than good.

The wise and healthful way is to correct the diet. Your system needs "bulk" and Vitamin B in generous quantities to keep it healthfully regular.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal, gives you both of these things. It furnishes "bulk," which gently exercises the intestines. And Vitamin B, which tones them up.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains iron, which helps build rich, red blood!

Start now to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly — either as a cereal or in cooked foods. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient to prevent and to relieve most cases of constipation. (See your doctor, however, if you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way.)

Be sure you get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Capone's Henchmen Are Quitting Noted Hotel

Federal Government Warning For Al Proves Warning For All Subjects

Flock Out Of Lexington Hotel Like Rats Leaving Fire-Ravaged Wharf

By WEST PETERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Like rats swarming off a doomed ship, the henchmen of Al Capone Thursday began forsaking their "outlaw camp" in the Lexington Hotel.

Authorities pointed out that this does not mean the Capone syndicate is breaking up—the mobsmen are merely moving to a new base of operations. The spotlight was turned on their rendezvous Wednesday by Federal Judge James Wilkerson.

While the underlings of the racket work checked out of the South Michigan avenue hotelry, their one-time ruler fidgeted in the county jail as his attorneys sought a legal avenue to free him.

The exodus from the Lexington followed Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's denunciation of the Capone gangsters for perpetrating "nothing less than an insurrection against the laws of the United States."

Customers Leaving

Loads of clothing, probably including some of the super-gangster's $135 suits, were taken out of the hotel. The management admitted that all of its Capone customers were leaving.

The lexington Hotel has become famous in the history of Chicago gangsterism. There, in his luxurious apartments, Public Enemy No. 1 summoned his inner council to plan far-flung operations. It was there that "Scarface Al" enjoyed homage and riches as king of the underworld.

Where the henchmen will set up new headquarters was not learned. It was believed they would move to another hotel on the South Side, although some of them may live temporarily in neighboring cities in Illinois and Indiana.

Capone's attorneys apparently were at a loss as to their next step. Michael Ahern, one of the counsel, had not carried out his threat of going to Washington to present a motion for bail to Justice Willis Van DeVanter of the Supreme Court.

P. H. C. Activities Well Under Way

Hallowe'en Frolic Much Enjoyed — Meetings Are Scheduled

Following a brief business session of the P. H. C. on Wednesday night a Hallowe'en frolic was held. State Deputy M. M. Henlein of Erie, honor guest of the circle, presided throughout the session and later gave the members a masterly address, referring especially to the inner circle ceremonial which will be held in the circle chamber on Wednesday evening, November 18.

Deputy Walter Schroeder, the general chairman of this event, stated that there will be an unusually large class taking the degree at this time, with many circles in the district added to the New Castle candidates. The inner circle banquet will be held in the new Epworth church and promises to be one of the big features.

On November 6 the junior circle in No. 5 is to be guest at the big junior rally held in Sharon and will furnish the program of the evening. On November 16 the senior circle will attend a big session held in the Temple at Sharon under the auspices of the parent circle of the organization.

The splendid Hallowe'en party held by the circle on Wednesday night was another evidence of the social life of the circle and the circle chamber was filled at 9 o'clock with members and their friends. An excellent orchestra furnished music until a late hour when prizes were awarded. Mrs. W. R. Jaxtheimer left the hall with a 25-pound sack of sugar to the good while Mr. and Mrs. Alec McConahy carried off the prizes for the best costumes. The beautiful large cake made by Mrs. Hildred Back was awarded to Henry Gorst.

The fourth card party of the series will be held on Wednesday night, November 4, with Hazel Hicks, Roy Erwin, Hildred Back and Harry Mehlman as hosts.

LILLIE B. JONES,
Secretary.

Lawrence County Hunters Await Dawn Of Monday

Game Season Will Be In Full Swing With Exception Of Deer And Bear

With the exception of deer and bear, Pennsylvania's hunting season will be in full swing Monday, when the season on rabbit, squirrel, male pheasant, wild turkey and quail opens.

The season on ducks and water birds, woodcock, blackbirds and raccoon opened during the month of October, and with the addition of the other small game, will enable hunters to get a full bag of game next week.

Although the season actually opens on Sunday, hunting is not permitted in Pennsylvania on the Sabbath Day, and hunters will be forced to await the second day of the season before they can do any shooting.

The bag limit on rabbits is five a day, and 30 a season; squirrel, six a day, 20 a season; hares, three a day, 15 a season; quail, eight a day, 25 a season; pheasant, two a day, six a season; ruffed grouse, two a day, 12 a season; woodcock, four a day, 20 a season; 20 jacksnipe a day; 15 ducks a day, 60 a season; four geese a day, including brant, 30 a season.

Big Game Hunting Starting In Maine

Bear And Deer Hunting Season Opens Monday In All Of Northern States

(Special To The News)

AUGUSTA, Me., Oct. 30—Smoke curling from the chimneys of snug sporting camps in the Maine woods signals a welcome to the rifle bearing hunters who will join the shotgun bearing bird hunters next Monday morning when the deer and bear season of 1931 opens in all counties.

While the season begins on November 1, according to the game laws, shooting will not commence until the second day of the month this year because of the regulation prohibiting hunting on Sunday.

The current weekly hunting bulletin, compiled from reports received from all wardens yesterday, shows that venison and bear steaks on the hoof are plentiful all through the thousands of wooded miles of Maine hunting country excepting in the thickly settled section between Bangor and Skowhegan and in that triangular shaped territory between Portland, Augusta and Lewiston. Even in these areas deer have been seen in fair numbers in the outskirts of towns and village.

Still ground was reported from northern Penobscot, eastern Aroostook, southern Piscataquis, western Cumberland, York, Hancock and Washington counties. Predictions of rain for the latter part of this week promise the still hunting which all gunners hope to enjoy on the opening of the season.

WOMAN 107 YEARS OLD PICKS COTTON

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Oct. 30.—This is the 100th year that "Aunt" Patience Woodward, aged Negro "mammy," has picked cotton in the south.

At the age of 107, Aunt Patience claims that she is the oldest cotton-picker in the world. She began when she was a toddling child of seven and recently went out around her cabin near Tillatora to gather a basketful. When she "rests up" a while, she intends to pick another basketful, to maintain her quota of two baskets, which was set five years ago.

FIRST FLOUR MILL IN NEBRASKA RAZED

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Oct. 30.—The first flour mill in Nebraska is being torn down.

Catron's mill, located on Walnut Creek four miles northwest of here, was built some time before 1855, for that's as far as the records go back, and the little mill was functioning then.

For over 70 years, the little mill ground feed merrily, utilizing water power from the stream. During the past summer, boys, in search of a bathhouse, chose the mill. It was close to their swimmin' hole.

Sparks From New Castle Motor Club

Nearly One-Third Of Motor Fatalities Occur In Three Months' Period, October To January

Nearly one-third of all motor fatalities occur in the three months' period from October through December and motorists should remember that added care in driving at this season will go far toward reducing the toll of deaths and injuries on the streets and highways.

This statement was made today by Ralph W. Bolsinger, President of the New Castle Motor Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

Mr. Bolsinger declared that out of a total of 33,000 motor fatalities in 1930, there were 10,350, in the months of October, November and December.

He pointed out several things that car owners should keep in mind as follows:

"Children have returned to the school room in all parts of the country, after months of freedom in the open, and will not exercise the caution they will later in the year. It therefore behooves the motorist to watch out for youngsters crossing the street.

"Due to the presence of children on the streets and the consequent delay at intersections, longer time will be required to reach the office. Therefore, the car owner should allow himself more time.

"Darkness comes all too soon at this season and a careful watch should be kept for children who have wandered into streets, especially those on skates.

"Falling leaves on wet streets offer a serious traffic hazard and too sudden application of the brakes will cause skidding with resultant danger."

The A. A. A. Club executive declared that if motorists will bear these things in mind, they will add greatly to the pleasure and safety of driving.

"Rubber" Checks

Don't try to put one over on the Commonwealth by sending a check to the Department of Revenue when you don't have sufficient funds in, or credit with, a bank to meet the check," Commissioner Eynon said. "To do so is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of more than $100 or imprisonment not to exceed two years, or both. Just because you get the tags and we get the bad check does not mean that you win. Your gain is only a temporary one. You will be visited by a State Highway Patrolman and the tags lifted."

On Wednesday, November 4th, at Sharon, Pa., a district meeting for garagemen, owners and mechanics from Lawrence and Mercer Counties, will be held at 8:00 p. m., in the showrooms of the Sharon Motor Company, Shenango and Pitt streets.

This is one of the forty-six meeting which was arranged by the Department of Highways to acquaint the applicants for official inspection stations with the policies and procedure outlined by the Department for conduction stations and the manner in which inspections should be made.

Mrs. Ruth Judd Fails To Smile On Lovely Roses

Accused "Trunk Murderess" Throws Roses On Floor—Hires Her Fifth Attorney

By WALLACE X. RAWLES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 30.—"I don't want any flowers. I want my life!"

That was the cry of Mrs. Ruth Judd, when she awakened Thursday in the county jail hospital and found some "admirer" had sent her a bunch of long-stemmed roses. She threw the flowers on the floor.

Meanwhile, in her desperation Mrs. Judd again switched attorneys on the eve of a hearing to set aside a writ of habeas corpus, which her other attorneys frankly admitted they filed to delay her return to Phoenix, Ariz., and trial for the murder of her chums, Agnes Leroi and Hedwig Samuelson.

Five Attorneys

The new attorney is Paul W. Schenck, noted for his part in many criminal cases of wide interest.

Schenck was expected to plead with the court for time in which to familiarize himself with the case, and thus further delay hearing on a court order intended to set aside the habeas corpus proceedings.

Mrs. Judd has employed five attorneys since her dramatic surrender four days after she assertedly brought to Los Angeles the bodies of her erstwhile chums in two trunks and a suit case.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD SEES SPLENDID RESPONSE

With but a few days left before the annual Ingathering of the Needlework Guild, the indications point to a splendid response to the appeal for new garments for charity this winter, according to Mrs. W. E. Ferver, president of the New Castle chapter of the Guild.

It has developed that one or two lists of names of members and directors have been mislaid and it is barely possible that some of the women on these lists were not notified this year of the Ingathering. If this is true it is hoped that the women will send their garments in as usual.

Ingathering On Nov. 15

This year's Ingathering will be held on November 5 in the Castleton Hotel and the distribution of garments will take place on November 6. Every garment contributed to the Ingathering will be sent out on November 6 to the organizations which distribute clothing to the needy.

There is no formality in joining the Needlework Guild. Any woman who is willing to donate two new articles of wear, such as stockings, underwear, dresses, boy pants, and the like is eligible. The work of the Guild is 100 per cent charitable for no money received goes to the overhead expense of the organization.

Last year there were nearly 5,000 garments donated at the annual Ingathering. It is hoped this year's total will run well over 5000.

Flaw In 'Perfect' Marble Block Of Unknown Temple

New Block Must Be Furnished For Soldier's Tomb

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—A tiny flaw, invisible to the average observer, yet in minute fashion rendering imperfect a ten ton slab of marble, has compelled replacement on the giant block that will rest on the Unknown Soldier's tomb.

The marble piece is so nearly perfect that only an expert can detect the flaw, like a knot in a fine piece of wood. Yet General Louis Bash of the Quartermaster Corps of the Army rejected the marble, similar flaws in the marble Lincoln memorial, but that because of the uniqueness of the Unknown Soldier's tomb he felt the piece was unfit.

The slab will form a base above the tomb for a 50 ton piece of carved marble which Bash considered "the most perfect piece of carved marble in the world." The 50 ton block has been delivered and is stored near the tomb, protected by wooden boxing. The imperfect ten ton slab is replaced by the Colorado concern which has the marble contract for the tomb.

"The company did not object to the replacement," Bash said. "They notified us the other day that the new block will be shipped about November 15.

"On almost any other project I would have approved this block. You can see any number of similar flaws in the Lincoln memorial, for instance.

"But because the tomb of the Unknown Soldier is unique, and because it is small and the observer will be able to get so close to it, I felt we must have as near perfection as possible. I consider the 50 ton piece the most beautiful piece of carved marble in the world."

The replacement will not delay dedication ceremonies at the tomb. Bash pointed out these could not have been held until next Spring anyway because landscaping for the tomb is unfinished.

Venezuela is the second largest oil producing country in the world. The production of petroleum in 1929 was 137,472,000 barrels.

5. The Battle Of Resaca De La Palma

ON THE DAY AFTER HIS DEFEAT AT PALO ALTO, MAY 9, 1846, ARISTA FELL BACK TO RESACA DE LA PALMA, WHERE HE TOOK UP A STRONG POSITION PROTECTED IN FRONT BY RAVINES THICKLY-GROWN WITH PRICKLY CACTUS AND MESQUITE BUSH.

TAYLOR ATTACKED THE SAME DAY. TO THE SURPRISE OF THE MEXICANS THE AMERICANS BOLDLY PLUNGED INTO THE TANGLE OF THORNY GROWTH AND ADVANCED STEADILY UNDER A HOT FIRE TOWARD ARISTA'S LINES.

CUTTING THEIR WAY THROUGH ALL THE OBSTRUCTIONS, TAYLOR'S MEN HURLED THEMSELVES FIERCELY UPON THE MEXICANS AND DROVE THEM FROM THEIR POSITIONS AT THE POINT OF THE BAYONET.

New Castle Plays At Turtle Creek Saturday

LOCALS HOPE TO WIN FROM TURTLE CREEK

Two Schoolboy Elevens Primed For Annual Grid Combat On Saturday

NEW CASTLE TRIES FOR FOURTH VICTORY

Fans Expect To Witness Fast Game—No Special Train To Turtle Creek

Two evenly matched schoolboy grid elevens will take the field Saturday afternoon at Turtle Creek, when the New Castle high red and black combination encounters Turtle Creek high in the annual football combat between the two teams. The game starts at 2:30 o'clock. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, announced today that there will be no special train to Turtle Creek due to the fact that the required 200 reservations could not be secured.

Fans anticipate another thrilling contest like that which the two teams put up last season at Taggart stadium. New Castle won a close 6-0 victory to spoil Turtle Creek's undefeated season. A long pass McAuley to Lasky good for 33 yards paved the way for the only score of the game. Turtle Creek had the ball in scoring position on several occasions but failed to cross the goal line.

This game is still fresh in the memories of the fans who watched the boys battle in a chilly wind. The game caused the frenzied fans to forget the weather. This season Coach Foxy Miller's team will be out to square things.

The Turtlers have been drilling for sometime in connection with this game and according to reports are primmed for this encounter with the Phil Bridenbaugh revamped eleven. New Castle will take the field optimistic of setting back the Creekers again this year.

New Castle has been training for the past week at Taggart stadium and will close the preparation this afternoon. Early Saturday morning the local gridders will board a bus and start to the scene of the battle. The drill tonight will probably be light.

With only four more games left the Senior high team hopes to make a good finish by turning the tables on Turtle Creek, McKeesport, South of Youngstown and Erie East the opponents left on the schedule.

The same lineup which battled Altoona to a 13-6 score last week will probably oppose Turtle Creek. The list shows, John Uram, Rambo, Burns and Kominic on the backfield. On the line, Nocera and Ciccone on ends, Crisci and Mike at tackles, Kazenski and Hileman or Thomas at guards and DeCarbo at center.

For the past week Nick Uram, veteran quarterback who has been out all season due to a broken collar bone has been practicing. Although Coach Bridenbaugh did not say that he intends starting Nick, he may give Nick a chance to play part of the game. Mike DeCarbo, New Castle center has been used in practice in the backfield.

Favor Allegheny To Top Grovers

Allegheny's Unbeaten Eleven Looks For Another Victory Saturday

GROVE CITY, Pa., Oct. 30.—Traditional western Pennsylvania rivals will clash here Saturday in the Grove City-Allegheny football game which will feature the Crimson homecoming day. While Allegheny reigns the favorite, the contest is certain to produce the usual thrills of the annual fall meeting of the rivals, and the Grover squad is in exactly the right mental state to cause an upset.

Coach Berry closed the week's preparation today after devoting all of the time to the freshmen on the Crimson squad. The first-year gridders will have the burden of the homecoming day battle, for Berry is compelled to start six and possibly seven freshmen against the veteran Allegheny team. The tackles, ends and two backs will be yearlings, according to the tentative lineup, used this week, and Berry will be handicapped by lack of substitutes.

Allegheny is Powerful.

Allegheny, with practically the same team that defeated Grove City 6-0 last year, brings its most powerful aggregation in years to Grove City. In Garbark, Berger, Varano and Balser, the Grovers will face the best backfield they have encountered this year. Unable to match power with the Methodists, it is expected that Grove City will depend on an open attack.

Saturday's game will be the 39th between the schools. Grove City has won 19, lost 16, and tied three contests. The Grovers also hold a lead of an even 100 points in total scoring, the records showing that Grove City registered its most impressive victory two years ago, winning 40-7, while back in 1914 Allegheny rolled over the Grovers to a 40-0 triumph. Grove City has won four of the last five games until last year when the Alligators won 6-0. Grove City's victories were: 1926, 14-7; 1927, 21-6; 1928, 13-7, and 1929, 40-7. Tom Shupe, the outstanding player of the 1928 game and captain of the present Grove City squad, will be kept out of action Saturday by an injured knee.

Union High-Freedom Will Play Saturday At Taggart Stadium

Union High Team Will Use New Castle Field For Important Game

Game Will Start At 2:00 O'Clock—Freedom Will Bring Strong Team Here

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Taggart Field, Union High school football team will play Freedom High, another W. P. I. A. L. opponent. Union High has hopes of another victory. Coach "Morg" Boyd is confident that his Blue and White clad team will "carry on". In event of good weather a fine crowd will no doubt wend their way to the local stadium.

A long signal drill was engaged in Thursday and the plays for the Freedom game perfected. Another signal drill will take place today. Union has had two weeks to get ready for this important battle. The players with the exception of Jaworski and Davies are in fine physical shape.

Expect Big Crowd.

It is reported from Freedom that a large crowd of high school students will follow their football team here for the game. This is the first time that a Freedom High football team every played in New Castle.

Coach Boyd has given special attention to the backfield this week in the hopes of adding strength to the offensive attack. More deception is desired. The running attack and forward passes have been thoroughly worked out. The Freedom game looms as the strongest of the year for Union and they are anxious to make a good showing.

Union In Shape.

The Union team is at its very best and with two good sets of backfields to throw into action, Union's reserve strength is sure to carry them thru. Coach Boyd is uncertain as to his starting lineup, as there are so many players of equal ability.

Faculty Manager Floyd Geigher has made arrangements with Ralph H. Gardner of Senior High and will have the gates at Taggart Field well handled for the game tomorrow.

The officials will be Waddington, McIntosh and Broodey.

Sophomores Upset Senior Eleven, 7-6

Ridley Hits Line For Sophomore Score—Seniors Tally In Opening Quarter

One of the best Inter-class league football games of the season was played Thursday afternoon at Taggart stadium when the Sophomore eleven made a Frank Merriwell finish to nose out the Senior combination. The score was 7-6.

The Seniors started a march down the field in the first quarter which climaxed when Gregor on the sneak play from the 20 yard line carried the oval over the line. The Sophomores could not halt the march of the upper classmen. The first quarter ended 6-0 with the Seniors on the top berth.

During the next two periods neither team could penetrate the defense of their opponents. The half culminatd with the score still 6-0 with the Seniors on top. Late in the third quarter the Sophomore team took the ball in mid-field and through a series of line bucks and several short passes had the ball in scoring zone as the third period ended. Score, Senior 6, Sophomores 0.

Ridley Scores

The Sophs pushed the ball to the 2 yard line on two successful line plunges and scored a first down. It took the lower classmen three more plays before Ridley took the oval and finally crossed the coveted goal line. Realizing that the extra point meant a lot the Sophomores decided to plunge over the line instead of kicking.

Butts hit left guard for the extra point. After the Seniors secured the ball they attempted several passes but their tries proved futile. The final score was 7-6 with the Sophomores the winners. The game was one of the best in the league to date and thrilled several hundred fans who watched the tilt.

Sanders, Capitola and Ridley featured in the backfield for the Sophomores with Hitchen and Sniezek the best on the line. Kakos and Othites on the line were the best for the Seniors while Gregor and McKee were outstanding in the backfield.

The lineup;

Sophomores 7.		Seniors 6.
Hitchen	L.E.	Glenn
Humphrey	L.T.	Kakos

Scarazzo	R.E.	Emery
Capitola	Q.B.	Gregor
George	L.H.	McKee

Irish Team Is In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 30—Forty-seven strong, Notre Dame's football squad arrived here today to prepare for the clash with Carnegie Tech tomorrow.

Coach Heartley ("Hunk") Anderson, Irish mentor, has drilled his squad for one of its toughest battles of the season, he said upon arrival.

"Carnegie has been saving up for us," Anderson said, "and we'll get the full blast of a strong outfit when we meet them tomorrow. It'll be a hot fight.

'Carnegie, I understand, has a new camouflage defense perfected for us but I think the boys will be able to solve it after the early play."

The Notre Dame squad is in perfect condition for the clash Anderson said. And—

"It's wonderful weather for football, isn't it?" he inquired, with a sniff at the crisp, cool air.

"Tommy" Harper In Penn State Varsity Lineup

HARPER STARTING HIS FIRST GAME

TOM HARPER

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Tommy Harper, former New Castle and Kiski halfback, will get his first chance as a member of Penn State's starting lineup when the Nittany Lions tackle the University of Pittsburgh in the alumni homecoming day game here tomorrow.

The fleet sophomore back may replace George "Spike" Collins, who has been absent from practice on account of illness of his father. Although Harper has seen action in all but the opening games of the season thus far, tomorrow's game will be the first that he has started.

Harper Looks Good.

Real promise has been shown by Harper since the start of the season and only the presence on the squad of two veteran halfbacks in Collins and Phil Moonves has kept him from displaying his speed more often. His greatest asset is speed which he uses to particular advantage on end runs.

Harper, although a former New Castle high school captain, now makes his home in Pittsburgh and consequently will be facing a team from his own city in the Pitt eleven. He followed up three years of football at New Castle with a year at Kiski Preparatory School and came to Penn State as a freshman last year.

Interesting Angle.

It will be interesting to New Castle students attending State College who will witness the game, to see two former New Castle high stars playing against each other and both halfbacks. Paul Reider, is one of the featured stars with the Pitt Panthers this season, and has been playing fine football.

Reider and Harper are teammates of that great game at Youngstown one afternoon when New Castle was beaten 7 to 6. Reider was calling signals and Harper was fullbacking here. Harper did yoeman service for New Castle in that game, and Reider scored the touchdown. Tomorrow afternoon they will face each other across the chalked lines one wearing the raiments of the Pitt Panther and the other the Penn State Lions. Harper will be starting his first varsity game. He has been a utility back, and will replace Collins. New Castle fans will watch with interest the Reider-Harper battle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Cy Perkins, veteran catcher of the New York Yankees, who played with the Athletics for many years, has received his unconditional release. He is a crack linksman and may turn professional golfer.

Penn-Lafayette And Notre Dame-Tech To Feature State Games

One Important National Championship Battle In Each End Of State

Pitt Playing At Penn State —Westminster Tangling With Waynesburg

By GENE MYERS
International News Service Sports Writer

Two games, Notre Dame's battle with Carnegie Tech and Penn's souffle with Lafayette, hold the spotlight of attention of Keystone State football followers this Saturday.

Carnegie Tech grid warriors will enter the game with the late Knute Rockne's proteges with one idea in mind, to hold the fighting Irish to a smaller score than did Pitt, their local rivals, last week.

Means of stopping the Irish battering-dam assaults have been worked upon in daily workouts of the Carnegie eleven and confidence is entertained that the score will be considerably less than the 25 to 12 count last week.

Penn Favored

Penn and Lafayette engineered two of the major upsets in college football last week. Penn overthrew a confident Wisconsin eleven while Lafayette scrambled, a weary victor, from a skirmish with Washington and Jefferson. Both teams use the Warner system of play, Coaches McCracken of Lafayette and Harman of Penn having been graduated from Pitt. Minor injuries are reported on the Penn squad, but it is thought they are not sufficiently serious to handicap the Quaker team. Several new plays are expected to be tried out in the conflict but Penn is given the nod.

Another battle of importance is Penn State's conflict with Pittsburgh at State College. The Nittany Lions are badly battered and bruised as a result of last week's match with the heavy Syracuse team, and Pitt, exuding confidence as a result of the splendid showing against Notre Dame, is a heavy favorite.

Villanova-Bucknell

Villanova will line up again Bucknell at Scranton in a charity game. Much stress has been placed upon the forward pass by Bucknell coaches and it is expected that Hinkle, Bison triple-threat man, will use the air to worry the Wildcats. Villanova, too, has been drilling hard for the contest. The game is a toss-up.

Should Ursinus defeat Gettysburg, the former again will be crowned champion of the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Football Conference. The bullets are bruised and battered from the last game with Bucknell and Ursinus is given the edge.

Overturned by Brown last Saturday, Lehigh faces Muhlenberg at Bethlehem. Development of several deceptive plays during the week and improvement in defensive work throws the odds on Muhlenberg.

Lebanon Valley will March out against Mt. St. Mary at Annville. The blue and white gridders put on a great defensive show against Dartmouth last week and development in that line of the game during the past few days has been marked. Lebanon Valley is favored.

W. & J. and Temple

Rearrangement of the Washington and Jefferson eleven has followed the defeat at the hands of Lafayette last week. The Presidents meet Temple at Philadelphia in a night battle. The Owls' attack has been refurbished and defense plays also have been worked upon. W. and J. is given the nod by dopesters.

Reorganization of the Pennsylvania Military College eleven is expected to add considerably to the Cadets' effectiveness in their match with Gallaudet College at Chester. Little of Gallaudet's strength is known and P. M. C. is favored to win.

West Chester is favored to take over the Trenton Teachers at West Chester while Westminster, after developing very slowly to date, will do its best to hold Waynesburg, victor over Penn State, to the smallest possible score.

Indiana, which displayed a strong defense last week, is rated to win from Slippery Rock in their annual tangle and St. Thomas, despite the loss of several strong players, is expected to win over St. Mary at Winona.

Allegheny Favored

Strong offensive play is expected to give Johns Hopkins the edge over Haverford while Allegheny, because of powerful offensive work, is favored to defeat Grove City on the latter's grounds.

Swarthmore is expected to fall before Dickinson, a vastily improved eleven, and E. Stroudsburg is looked upon as the victor in the clash with Mansfield at East Stroudsburg.

Lackhaven, which emerged undefeated from last season's battles, is expected to win over Bloomsburg and Shippensburg is favored to defeat California at California.

Drexel is slated to down Washington College and Thiel is given the nod over St. Vincent in their struggle at Latrobe.

C. C. N. Y., and La Salle, both defeated last Saturday, meet in a Saturday game. City College has drilled consistently on offensive play and is expected to win. Albright is favored to win over St. Joseph at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Tech is favored to triumph over College of Emporia at Pittsburgh.

Penn State May Surprise Pitt

Pitt Panthers Will Play At State College First Time Since 1902

NITTANY ELEVEN ON EDGE TODAY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 30.—Joe Sutherland and his Panthers left Pittsburgh today for their first visit on the home field at State College since 1902.

Pitt expects little trouble in subduing the Nittany Lion and Jock plans to use as many of his reserves as possible without taking undue chances at the hands of the Penn State line.

In their last practice session, the varsity and second team scrimmaged with the Freshmen gridders who used Penn State's favorite plays exclusively. The Panther is confident that it will easily overcome the touted Penn State line-buck.

State On Edge.

STATE COLLEGE, Oct. 30.—Penn State's three teams were on their toes for the Pitt invasion today following a stiff practice session in which they lined up against a mythical attack at the hands of the Panthers.

Tom Slusser, at left end, and Mart Hesch, at left guard, were two of the newcomers expected to start in the Pitt game.

Titans To Leave On Friday Night For Waynesburg

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 30—Graduate Manager Andy McDonald announced that the Westminster College varsity football squad will leave here Friday evening for Washington, Pa., where the men will be quartered Friday night. The team will leave Washington for Waynesburg at noon Saturday.

In all probability, the Titans will travel by bus, leaving the gymnasium late today. A party of 30, including 23 players will make the trip Headquarters will be established at the George Washington hotel in Washington.

The game with Waynesburg, a Tri-State Conference contest will be Westminster's first conference battle of the year. The Jackets with all injured men well again and available for the game, will be top-heavy favorites over the young Titan crew, but Coaches Lawther and Dart look for improvement in both offense and defense of the Titans.

Yale-Dartmouth Looks Like Battle—Michigan And Princeton To Clash

NOTRE DAME AND CARNEGIE TECH

By EDDIE CASEY
Former All-American Halfback and Now Head Coach at Harvard.

(Written For and Copyrighted, 1931 By International News Service)

BOSTON, Oct. 30.—Football teams the country over start down the home stretch tomorrow, and many of them have the advantage of a respite from high pressure competition.

The outstanding games in the East will involve Yale and Dartmouth, Columbia and Cornell, New York University and Oregon, Brown and Holy Cross, Syracuse and Michigan State, Michigan and Princeton and Pittsburgh and Penn State. In several instances undefeated teams will be in action in these games. Neither Columbia nor Cornell have been defeated. New York University, Brown and Syracuse also are in the unbeaten class.

Yale Favored

Three of these games would seem to match teams so equal in playing record and strength that the game may go to either. While Yale for instance, has been named an outstanding favorite over Dartmouth, I look for the Green to play one of its best games of the year. Dartmouth which has had better teams, than the one Stan Yudickey captains this year often goes into the bowl with high hopes only to come out most chastened. Yale has beaten better teams than this Dartmouth team, with teams potentially not as strong as this year's Eli evelen.

Syracuse and Michigan State should provide one of the great games of the season, with the former having a good chance to keep its undefeated record. New York University is too strong for Oregon, which will be affected by the transcontinental journey. Pennsylvania should keep its undefeated record against Lafayette. Fordham is heavily favored over West Liberty. Harvard should win over Virginia, Colgate over Mississippi College, Army over Colorado, Navy over West Virginia Wesleyan. Pittsburgh, with a great line which could hold the Notre Dame running attack, is favored to swing back on the victory path against Penn State.

Tulane Is Strong

In the south, Tulane, one of the great teams of the country, plays Mississippi Aggies. Tennessee plays Drake and Georgia plays Florida, and there seems little chance of any of the three, who are the sectional leaders, being upset.

West Conference and Midwestern games undoubtedly will find favorites winning. Notre Dame finds an opponent easier than Pittsburgh in Carnegie Tech. Ohio State is favored over Indiana, Minnesota over Wisconsin and Northwestern over Illinois. Michigan tripping east to meet Princeton, is favored to hand its opponent a fourth defeat in four starts.

Southern California does not play on the coast, but Standford meets University of California at Los Angeles and California plays Nevada. Bill Ingraham has brought California along nicely. It did a great job holding Southern California to a 6-0 game.

Undoubtedly Yale found the spark it has been looking for this season when it came from behind on Saturday last to tie Army, 6-6. The game looks to be very much of an even proposition.

From the season's start all indications have pointed to Holy Cross as one of the outstanding teams of the year. To be sure, the Crusaders escaped a possible tie with Dartmouth when Bill McCall carried back the opening kickoff to the Holy Cross two-yard line, but through that game Holy Cross played well. A week ago it defeated Rutgers, 27 to 0, a team which the week previously had been defeated by New York University, 27-0.

Columbia-Cornell

It should be a hard game, but Holy Cross would seem to hold a slight edge.

The Columbia-Cornell game brings two of the best teams those universities have had in recent years into action. A year ago in an amazing upset Columbia won and generally has been favored to repeat. Lou Little has done a marvelous job with his Columbia material, but he is tackling a good Cornell team, one that has been rested for two weeks and has great scoring power. If Columbia has an advantage it lies in the fact that the team has been tested more severely than Cornell and has succeeded in meeting those tests. A touchdown either way should decide it.

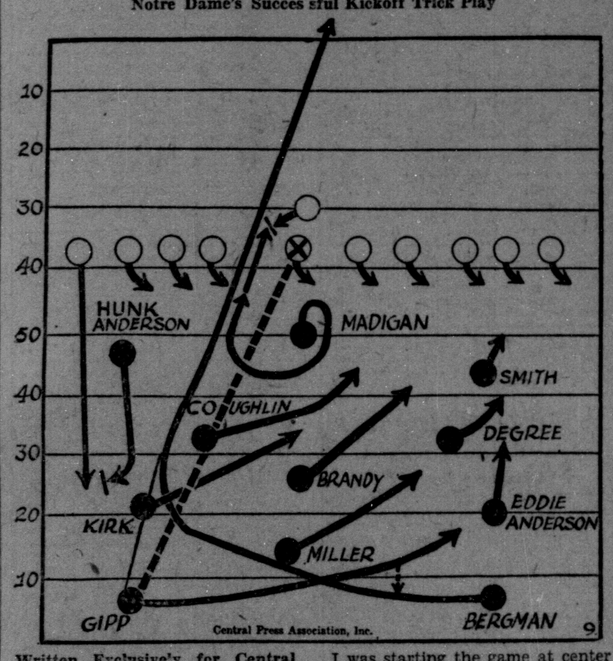
CAR DRIVER HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

WASHINGTON Pa., Oct. 30—Jno. Oldock, 22, formerly of Newark, N. J., but for the past few months a resident of Cherry Valley, was held on a charge of involuntary manslaughter today at an inquest conducted into the death of Mrs. Joanna Urbanic, 28, of Midway. Oldock was driving a machine which struck the woman as she was walking along the highway. Oldock is alleged to have lost control of the machine which left the highway and struck the woman at one side of the road, fatally injuring her.

Rockne's Best Plays

By COACH EDWARD (SLIP) MADIGAN

Notre Dame's Succes sful Kickoff Trick Play



Written Exclusively for Central Press and New Castle News

NUMBER NINE

Knute Rockne figured that he would have to resort to a fancy trick play to beat Nebraska at Lincoln in 1919. In those years, next to Army, Nebraska was the biggest game on our schedule. The Cornhuskers had a big, heavy line that didn't promise much penetration when we had the ball. And they had an alert and speedy end in Herb Dana as well as a secondary that was well drilled and primed for us in the art of air defense.

So Rockne decided not to waste any time, and we sprung a kickoff return trick on the Cornhuskers that scored us a touchdown before the din of the opening cheers had died down.

Isasmuch as we managed to win, 13 to 9, that year, Rockne's trick play won the game for us.

It was a beautifully executed play. Of course Rock had the material to spring it with—George Gipp, just coming into the gridiron picture, and "Dutch" Bergmann, the fleetest running back ever to play for Notre Dame.

Funny thing, and a coincidence, too—Dana later told me that "Germany" Schultz, former All-American center at Michigan and at that time head coach at Nebraska had planned to use a similar trick play on us if they had won the toss and been in a position to choose to receive instead of kickoff.

Naturally Schultz and the Cornhuskers did not expect us to steal their thunder.

Bergmann had beaten Nebraska almost single handed the two previous years, so the Cornhuskers believed they were all set for him in this game. At the same time they weren't taking chances on his getting in the open.

As the teams lined up for the kickoff, Schultz cupped his hands and from the sidelines yelled to big Wayne Munn, who was preparing to kickoff:

"That's Bergmann over to the left. Don't kick the ball over there. Get it over to the other side of the field."

The Notre Dame back on the other side of the field was none other than the great Gipp, who at that stage of his career was just another football player.

I was starting the game at center that day, and was naturally in position closest to the Nebraska team. So when I heard the Nebraska coach shout those instructions to Munn I had to smile, because I knew the play we had in mind.

And the ball had to be kicked over to Gipp or we couldn't have sprung the play.

Gipp took the ball where he stood, about on the five-yard line, over near the extreme left hand side of the field. He ran diagonally across the field to the right. By the time he got over fairly close to the side lines there was the whole Notre Dame team grouped in front of him as though forming for interference for Gipp.

The purpose of this act, of course, was to shield the real play that was to come. The entire Nebraska team with the exception of two, one of them the safety man, fell right into the trap by charging over to the right where the Notre Dame team was in mass formation. It did look like the right thing for them to do.

When Gipp started his diagonal run flat across the field Bergmann came to meet him, slowly though, so as not to reveal his part in the play. He suddenly came with a rush and fell in just behind Gipp.

The moment Bergmann's path crossed Gipp, the latter flipped the ball directly behind him into Bergmann's arms.

Bergmann reversed his field, running both up field and across. Bergmann had tremendous speed. He was Notre Dame's greatest track sprinter.

Dana and the Nebraska safety man were the only two Cornhuskers on the unprotected side of the field. Bergmann outran the rest of the Nebraska team and had only these two men in front of him.

Hunk Anderson, who is at present coach at Notre Dame, took care of Dana and somehow my feet were mates for once and I dashed up and took out the safety man.

The play actually happened so suddenly that the kick-off cheer had not died down when Bergmann planted the ball behind the Nebraska goal posts for a touchdown. I don't think the Nebraska players quite recovered from this shock during the remainder of the game.

Three Minnesota Gridders Receive Letters Of Bribe

BELIEVED WORK OF SOME JOKER

(International News Service)

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 30.—A mysterious conspiracy to bribe three University of Minnesota football players to "throw" a game confronted postal authorities today as they pondered over the question:

"Is it a plot, a stunt or a joke?"

The unusual bribe attempt was brought to light when three identic notes, signed by a "W. Burzik", were received in the mails by three members of the Gopher gridiron squad, offering them $1,500 each if they would promise to "lay down" in their game with the University of Wisconsin Saturday.

The three Minnesota players who received the letters are Captain Clarence Munn, Jack Manders and Kenneth MacDougall. They brought the notes immediately to the attention of Coach Fritz Crisler, who said he will turn them over to the postal authorities.

Work of Joker

Three theories prevailed on the campus regarding the source of the letters. Coach Crisler, as well as the three targets of the bribe plot, held that the notes were the work of a practical jokester.

A second theory was that the notes were written by a Gopher partisan for the purpose of injecting a fighting spirit into the Minnesota team for the crucial Wisconsin contest which will have an important bearing on the Big Ten Conference race because both teams have thus far been unbeaten. This theory was upheld at Madison, Wis., by Coach Glenn Thistlewaite of the Wisconsin team.

The third theory attributes the mysterious letters to the efforts of a gambling syndicate to insure the outcome of the game in such a manner as to realize on their bets.

Reveal Contents

The contents of the three letters were:

"Dear Friend: If you will do your best to throw the game away to the Badgers this coming Saturday and provide that the Badgers win, I will present you with $1,500 in bills. The money will be in your possession late Saturday night. You do not have to answer this letter, but let your work Saturday earn you some real money instead of glory."

Immediately after perusing the letters, which were written on the stationery of a Madison hotel, Coach Crisler launched attempts to trace the author. He telephoned the hotel, only to be informed that no "W. Burzik" had been registered there. Then he expressed doubt as to the validity of the letters.

NATURE LOVER DIES NEAR TITUSVILLE

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 30.—Jonathan Doud, 97, died at the home of his grandson, Roland Doud, in Hydetown. Most of his life was spent as a farmer. A lover of nature, he spent a great deal of time in walking. On several occasions during the late decade he walked from Titusville to points in Chautauqua county, a distance of 60 to 70 miles in one day.

But if Gandhi's way of living is the ideal one, why does he want his people to be prosperous?

Player Goes Blind

James Pappas, 20, star athlete at Lynn, Mass., Classical High School, recently went completely blind, the result of a malady which followed a series of gridiron scrimmages. Science has been baffled in his case and cannot trace the cause of the boy's misfortune. Ten days before he went blind, Pappas had his eyes tested with the result that they were declared "perfect."

BEAVERS BUILDING IN CORRY DISTRICT

CORRY, Pa., Oct. 30.—Numerous new beaver colonies in the section between here and Franklin and in Warren county, are reported. There is one colony near Pithole, another at Garland and several in the immediate vicinity of Corry. Seven separate dams have been built on Blue Eye creek, all of sufficient height to back the stream up several hundred feet.

GREAT GRID TEAMS OF THE PAST

BY BILL RITT

NO. 4—TEN TIGERS AND JOHN DeWITT

The Orange and Black of Old Nassau has waved in triumph over many battlefields from 1869, when E. A. Poe's powerhouse wrecked the prides of the east to the 1925 Big Three champions, but Princeton men probably prefer their 1903 machine, because it humbled a superb Yale eleven.

John DeWitt, captain and All-American guard, was the bright, particular star of that 1903 horde of Tiger terrors. De Witt was a brilliant tackle as well as guard, but Princeton had two fine tackles in Reed and Cooney, so John played guard with Dillon and Short aiding him in defending the center of the line. Two star ends were Davis and Henry.

Vetterlein was a shrewd quarterback who got the best from his trio of fine ball carriers, Kafer, Foulke and Hart.

DeWitt was a great bulk of a man, a roaring tiger on defense, a savage charger when Princeton's attack was launched. John was also the Tigers' star kicker, his toe deadly when he aimed for cross-bars 40 yards or more away.

This 1903 eleven inherited a fine Princeton football tradition. That it added a perhaps brighter gem to the Tigers' crown of famed football teams stamps it as one of the really great elevens.

Princeton still longed for the "good old days" of Garry Cochran, Hector Cowan, Snake Ames, Biff Lea and the Poes when DeWitt's tiger-striped team took the field against Swarthmore to start the season of 1903. Swarthmore fell, 34-0—but that didn't mean anything.

Georgetown, next failed to score but held the Tigers to five points. Not so good. Brown collapsed, 29-0, and Lehigh was beaten, 12-0. Then the Carlisle Indians invaded Princeton.

Pop Warner had another one of his beauties and the Tiger had a battle. Vetterlein, however, went wild against the Indians and Carlisle was beaten, 11-0.

Princeton now moved into the last half of her 10-game schedule, with the knowledge that this 1903 team was good, but how good was still to be seen. Not long were Tiger adherents in doubt. After beating Bucknell, 17-0, Princeton smashed Dartmouth by the same score.

Cornell was crushed, 44-0, and Lafayette suffered an 11-0 reverse. There was no Harvard game as the Orange and Black and the Crimson—as at present—were not on friendly terms.

Yale and the season's finale. Though Princeton had not been scored on, had decisively beaten all opponents, this Yale team was favored to win. Look at this lineup—at the wings that superb pair, Captain Rafferty and Shevlin, add to these Hogan, Kinney, Bloomer, Rockwell and a few other stars.

Yale figured it couldn't lose. Confident and sure, the Blue tried to sweep the Tigers off the field in the first half. Hogan scored a touchdown. Another Yale drive followed. Balked near the goal line Yale tried for a field goal, but it was blocked and DeWitt snatched up the precious oval and sped 65 yards to a touchdown. He also kicked the successful try to tie the count.

Tigers of 1903

HENRY	End
COONEY	Tackle
DeWITT	Guard
SHORT	Center
REED	Tackle
DAVIS	End
VETTERLEIN	Quarter
KAFER	Half
FOULKE	Half
HART	Full

The game went into a deadlock. The two teams hammered at each other, neither able to break through for the winning score.

As the last seconds sped by, DeWitt, having carried the war and the ball to his own 47-yard line, kicked from placement the winning goal. Final score, Princeton 11, Yale 6.

Immortal John DeWitt. When he died a little over a year ago all Princeton men mourned. Though a guard, Captain DeWitt had scored all his team's points in a convincing triumph over his school's most powerful foe!

Frozen Assets

One of the best ways to hasten the return of prosperity is to turn our "frozen assets" into cash. Look around and see how many articles you have in your home which some one else could use. The baby buggy and bed which your child has outgrown, household furniture which is no longer needed, even outgrown clothing, all may be turned into cash through the medium of a classified ad.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Higher Price Levels In Early Trading

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—All sections of the active stock list moved into higher price levels in the early trading on the big board today.

Continuance of the regular dividend on Bethlehem Steel, in the same week as the declaration of the regular payment to stockholders of the U. S. Steel Corporation, was accepted as an evidence of confidence in the immediate future of the industry. A good impression was also created by the firmness of railroad stocks, on the heels of important conferences at Washington between rail heads and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

New York Central made further recovery from the low price of the week, moving ahead 1½ to 52. New Haven was up 1⅜ at 39. Atchison, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific gained a point on the average. Recoveries of 1 to 2 points were recorded for American Can, Consolidated Gas, Auburn Auto and Allied Chemical. Paramount carried its advance to 15¼, up 3½ from yesterday's low, on reports that "new interests" were identified with the management of the company.

The Public Utility and Electrical stocks tapered off near the noon period, with Electric Power and General Electric under moderate pressure. Electric Power lost 1½ points at 19½ and General Electric sold fractionally lower. American Tel and Tel made a net gain of nearly 2 points at 136½.

The stock market was extremely dull and featureless in this period, with prices barely steady. Railroad bonds made fair recoveries in that section of the market and liberty bonds sold a shade higher. Wheat rose half a cent a bushel and Cotton a few points.

Last Roll Call for Grid Warrior

Escorted to its last resting place among the heroes of West Point by a solemn guard of his grey-clad, cadet comrades, the body of Cadet Richard B. Sheridan was laid to rest in the cemetery of the U. S. Military Academy. Many representatives from the leading universities, including Yale, Notre Dame and Harvard, attended the funeral. It was a touching scene as taps was sounded over the grave of the young grid hero who died through injuries received in the Yale-Army football game at New Haven.

The fastest things on wheels, in the water and above the earth were collected in this interesting exhibit of three speed champions. Stainforth broke the world's air speed record are shown. All three prize-winners are shown at the London motor show

"Woman" 52 Years

He got along O. K. as a "she" for 52 years. There were no complications, even though, while known as Elizabeth Berg, he was a "masseuse" in a girls' school for several years. But Elizabeth wanted to bake pies. He—or she, if you wish—was arrested at New Haven, Conn., when seeking a job as a domestic. Since he was six years old, he said, he has worn women's clothes. A judge has ordered "Elizabeth" to wear trousers and be a man.

Just Among Us Girls

Grand Canyon Only a "Ditch"

This remarkable picture, made from a high-flying U. S. Army plane from Rockwell Field, Calif., makes the majestic Grand Canyon of the Colorado River appear to be only a ditch far, far below. Although the canyon is several miles deep at points, the altitude from which the photo was made dwarfs the heroic cut made through the rocky terrain by the turbulent Colorado. In fact, the river itself looks like only a thread of water. Note the three Army planes to the left of canyon.

"Movie Hero"

Edward Hogan, Jr., 14-year-old Brighton, Mass., lad, whose "heroism" won him prominent space in many newspapers and public acclaim—until he told the truth. Reenacting a scene—from a movie—whereby the hero pulled ties off the railroad track, placed a red lantern on the rails, fought bandits and saved the express train from disaster. Romantic Edward had a wonderful time with his tale of his own "heroism" until he broke down and confessed it was all pure fiction.

Modern Girl Is Inferior To Boy Says Miss Stebbing

Almost Uncivilized Is Criticism Of Woman Aged 91

By HOWARD BERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 30—Modern Miss, look to your laurels, for according to Miss Grace Stebbing, Britain's 91-year-old woman scientist, you are wicked, almost uncivilized, and, important, much inferior to your modern brothers.

Contrasting the modern youth, Miss Stebbing is of the opinion that while there has been no deterioration in the character of the modern boy the modern girl has declined in the sterling qualities, feminine grace, charm and personality that go to make up the human character.

The cause of the decline in the character of the modern girl is the drastic change that has taken place in the dress of women, and began when the bicycles and "those other contrivances" were first introduced, Miss Stebbing maintains.

"It was on the bicycle," Miss Stebbing said, "that the young girl, from the age of ten years or even less, first began to leave her mother and to get out of control.

"The dress of the girl of today, and of their mothers, too, is scandalous. We women have gone back as near the aborigines as it is possible to do in civilized lands.

"But the modern boy is as fine as ever he was in courtesy and conduct and all that goes to make a man. He has more courtesy, more personal charm, mode modesty, and is kinder to his parents.

"Dress is a chief factor of influence on the psychology of men and women," Miss Stebbing continued. "Nobody can say that the lines of feminine dress today are at all soft and graceful, as they were at the end of the last century. These lines are harder, and the result is that the character of the average girl of today is harsher than that of the girls of my day.

"Girls do not now consider their parents, they think it beneath them to help their mothers. No, they must go off for the day on motorbicycles and in motorcars—they must play tennis or play anything—but not help in the home."

LITTLE GIRL HURT DURING BIG PARADE

Motorcycle Officer Ray Showalter reported last night that during the parade in the South Side, that little Viola Donofrio, aged 7, while watching the parade, had her foot injured, when a horse belonging to John Donofrio stepped on it. She was taken to a physician and had her injury attended to.

OLD TAG PUTS NAME ON ROLL

Relic Of Civil War Is Found After Many Years

SPRINGDALE, Pa., Oct. 30—A half century after his death the name of a Pennsylvania Civil War veteran, who served as a messenger and drummer boy during the four-year struggle, is to be written in the official war records.

A rusty identification tag found in Fredericksburg, Va., led to the identification. The tag bore the name, "Jos. Johnston, Co. H. 63 Regiment, Penn. Vol., War of 1861."

When the war department checked its records the name was missing. The real identity of the soldier remained hidden until Burgess J. W. Johnson, Springdale, learned of the tag and recognized the name as that of his father.

Johnson served as a messenger boy for General Alex. B. Hayes after he stowed away on a troop train carrying soldiers from Pittsburgh to Washington. The boy was 12 then and had been turned down at recruiting posts.

When General Hays was wounded and not expected to live, he ordered Johnson to return to Pittsburgh with the body in case he died, and remain there. General Hays died and Johnson returned to Pittsburgh with the body, but immediately returned to the front, where he served as a drummer boy.

Johnson died in 1880 without having his name officially enrolled in the war records. His family will seek to have that honor accorded him now.

High necklines and contrasting color trimmings are favorite notes for evening gowns.

No Celebration Of Hallowe'en In Uptown District

No Formal Observance Of Parade Will Mark Observance This Year

There will be no formal observance of Hallowe'en in the uptown district of the city this year, as customary in the past, it is learned today.

The South Side parade and celebration last evening will be the only organized event this year. It is likely that many masqueraders will throng the downtown streets Saturday evening but no attempt will be made to stage a parade over the streets of the business section.
